

Kennedy Ready To Fly North

Farm Talks Scheduled Thursday

By Douglas B. Cornell
Palm Beach, Fla. (P) — President-elect John F. Kennedy winds up a 19-day Florida sojourn Wednesday and flies north for his first conferences with Robert S. McNamara and Dean Rusk since they accepted Cabinet appointments.

Kennedy will meet in New York Wednesday night with McNamara, who will be his secretary of defense, and in Washington Friday night with Rusk, who will be the next secretary of state.

The President-elect almost certainly would want to talk with these key members of his team about international trouble spots and the explosive situation in Laos in particular, even though he has been in touch with each of them frequently by telephone.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, did not rule out such topics of discussion with McNamara and Rusk. But he said the talks are likely to center on "what progress they have both made in putting together their respective organizations."

Ag Talks Readied
The President-elect will confer with leaders of major farm organizations in New York Thursday on what he called the farm crisis.

Carl Brun of Chappell, Neb., national president of the Wheat Growers Association, will be one of the conferees.

One More Trip South
Kennedy expects to make one more trip to Palm Beach in advance of his inauguration Jan. 20. From then on, he plans to stay close to Washington.

And for at least 6 or 7 months after he assumes the presidency, Salinger said, Kennedy plans no trips outside the country.

Salinger said Kennedy will have full schedules in New York Friday and Washington Saturday and then "see some people in New York on Sunday." He gave no names.

Dr. Westbrook Dies At Age 73

sic at Kansas State College at Manhattan.

He served as dean of the school of music, including the art and dramatics departments, at Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington from 1923 until 1939.

Since his appointment at the University of Nebraska in 1939, Dr. Westbrook had gained the reputation of the state's foremost missionary in the interests of music. He reorganized the defunct high school fine arts summer courses at the University into their present-day form, and was a leader in gaining adoption of a program leading to a Master's degree in music at the University.

Gets Honor

In 1956 he was named an "Outstanding Nebraskan" at the University of Nebraska by student and faculty nomination "on the basis of his influence on the lives of many thousands of students." He was responsible for building the music department from 40 music majors to more than 250 at the time of his retirement.

He was also named an honorary member of the Innocents Society in 1956.

He served as director of music and choirmaster at First-Plymouth Congregational Church for 16 years.

After his retirement from the University of Nebraska, Dr. Westbrook taught in the music departments of San Diego (Calif.) State College and at Wichita (Kan.) University, before returning to Lincoln to join the faculty at Wesleyan University.

Winter Remains At Rest; Warm Still Forecast

Clear skies and warmer temperatures are scheduled for Nebraska Wednesday, according to the weatherman.

Wednesday's forecast is for generally fair skies and a rise in the mercury, with highs expected in the upper 40s.

Beatrice recorded the state high Tuesday at 48. The low was recorded at Norfolk, 6 below zero. Lincoln had a high of 44 Wednesday and a low of 11.

According to State Highway Engineer John McMeekin, only some spots of snow and ice remained in towns and sheltered areas Tuesday.

Castro Promises Americans Safety

Havana (P) — Fidel Castro's government Tuesday night guaranteed the safety of all Americans in Cuba despite the U.S. government's break in diplomatic relations.

In an unusually polite note delivered to the U.S. Embassy after an emergency cabinet meeting, the Castro regime acknowledged President Eisenhower's action and named the embassy of Communist Czechoslovakia to represent it in Washington.

A government broadcast was more characteristic of official Cuban feeling toward the United States in recent months. It accused President Eisenhower of carrying out "criminal plans" against Cuba.

U.S. Action Catches U.N. By Surprise

United Nations (P) — The White House decision breaking diplomatic relations with Cuba came as an abrupt surprise at the United Nations Tuesday night on the eve of a Security Council hearing on the Castro contention that a U.S. attack is imminent.

The council expects to meet as scheduled Wednesday but with new elements now involved in the Soviet-supported bitterness of Fidel Castro against the United States.

Before the announcement of the Eisenhower decision to break with Castro the United States delegations here had been reported drafting a tough speech replying to the Cuban charges.

An American spokesman called the Cuban charges the "latest in a series of lies." U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth is expected to take this line before the council.

Split With Cuba Probably Won't Affect U.S. Base

Washington (P) — Defense officials saw little likelihood Tuesday night that the formal severance of diplomatic relations with Cuba would have any immediate effect upon U.S. retention of the naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

This view was based upon a series of treaties and agreements between Cuba and the United States dating from shortly after the liberation of Cuba during the Spanish-American war.

These treaties provide specifically that the area on the southeast coast of Cuba comprising the base shall remain under U.S. control providing that annual lease payments are made and that the United States continues to use the area for military purposes set forth in the agreement.

The treaties further set no terminal date. Under the wording of the agreement, the only way that the United States could be legally dispossessed at Guantanamo Bay would be for the government in Washington and the administration in Havana to agree upon an abrogation of the treaties.

Coast Guard Will Patrol Waters Off Key West, Florida

Miami, Fla. (P) — The Coast Guard will establish a regular patrol of waters off Key West, nearest United States point to Cuba.

The Coast Guard announcement came shortly before President Eisenhower's announcement that the United States has severed diplomatic relations with Cuba.

But a Coast Guard spokesman said the project "is primarily a search and rescue patrol because of an increase of distress incidents in that area." The 125-foot cutter Travis, based at Fort Lauderdale, is scheduled to start the patrol Wednesday or Thursday.

The area has been the scene of numerous breakdowns of American small craft. It also has been a sea road for Cuban political refugees slipping 90 miles across the Florida straits.

cabinet meeting, said that "every kind of facility" will be offered Americans in accordance with what he called Cuba's policy of respect for human rights and adherence to international customs.

The U.S. Embassy, however, urged all Americans to leave Cuba immediately and hurried plans to get its own personnel out.

The Cuban note to the embassy also extended the 48-hour period originally given for all but 11 U.S. officials to leave the country. The deadline originally would have expired Wednesday afternoon.

Promise Aid
Castro's government also promised to make facilities available to help transport embassy property to the United States.

The embassy recommended that only the most compelling reasons should prevent Americans from leaving.

A statement said the embassy would provide special documents for U.S. citizens needing them.

Citizens Pay

The statement said citizens are expected to pay for their transportation home but those experiencing unusual difficulties should contact embassy representatives immediately.

An embassy spokesman said arrangements have been made to evacuate Americans on a ferry to West Palm Beach, Fla.

He added that extra airliners may be put on as needed to take care of transportation needs.

The embassy estimated there are 500 to 800 Americans in Cuba.

Cuba Alert

Castro called his cabinet into session immediately following the announcement of Washington's break.

Castro's only comment on the break at the time was, "Cuba is alert."

Castro made the comment to a reporter as he emerged from the presidential palace where he attended a reception for visiting foreign delegations.

Asked if he knew the United States had broken diplomatic relations with Cuba, Castro replied, "Yes."

Asked for comment, he said: "I don't have to comment. Cuba is alert."

Then he sped off to an undisclosed destination with Capt. Antonio Nunez Jimenez, chief of the Cuban Agrarian Reform Institute.

Row Over Theft Lands Americans In Havana Prison

Havana (P) — Three Americans, two of them employees of the U.S. Embassy, were held in jail Tuesday night after an argument with police over a theft accusation against a Cuban.

The Americans were Stewart H. Adams of Bisbee, Ariz., a U.S. treasury agent at the embassy; Miss Frances Simopolous of Boston, Mass., an embassy secretary, and Tony Ferrante of Los Angeles, Calif., whose dairy property in Cuba was recently seized by the government.

The arrests appeared to have no connection with the U.S. break in diplomatic relations with Fidel Castro's government. It was expected the trio would be released Wednesday.

An embassy spokesman reported that Adams, accompanied by Miss Simopolous and Ferrante, went to police headquarters to lodge a complaint about a theft of furniture from the treasury man's home by a member of his household staff.

The spokesman said an argument developed over the accusation, and military investigators lodged the trio in jail. The spokesman added that efforts to obtain their release Tuesday night were fruitless.

New Solons Find House 'Not Quiet'

Washington (P) — Nebraska's two new House Republicans had trouble making themselves heard Tuesday in the House chamber.

Rep. Dave Martin said he was passed over twice during roll calls because the clerk didn't hear his response.

"I guess I'll have to get a hog calling voice or something," he quipped.

Martin said he was in the chamber during the entire opening day session, but when his name was called on a roll call to vote for the election of speaker, he wasn't heard the first time.

However, Martin said when his name was called the second time, he was able to cast his vote for Rep. Charles Halleck (R-Ind.) for speaker. Re-elected to the office was Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

A similar incident happened to Rep. Ralph Beermann when he was not heard in responding to the first round of this roll call.

As one observer explained, it easily could have happened since the chamber was rather noisy at the time.

Youth Confesses He Shot Windows

An 18-year-old Lincoln boy, one of two youths who admitted 6 northeast Lincoln burglaries, admitted Tuesday firing several shots into the windows of the Hinky Dinky Store, 5925 Adams.

The shots shattered 6 windows and caused an estimated $560 damage, police said. No one was in the store at the time.

A .22 caliber pistol taken in one of the burglaries, was used in the window-shooting spree, police reported.

A second youth, said to have driven a car while the jailed youth did the shooting, is being sought by police.

Belgian Unrest Mounts

Parliament Opens Economy Debate

By Eddy Gilmore

Brussels, Belgium (P) — Police with sabers and clubs fought strikers in Brussels and other major cities Tuesday as Parliament opened debate on the object of the workers' wrath — a rigid economy program.

Socialist leaders of the general strike, now in its third week, defiantly called for more mass rallies in the streets Wednesday.

Ignoring appeals to call off the strike, the Socialists tried to scrap the austerity program in Parliament after hearing Premier Gaston Eyskens denounce the mass walkouts as political. The Conservative coalition beat down the Socialist motion, 121-83.

Barricades Manned

State police manned barbed wire barricades around Parliament buildings and military police guarded the corridors as the deputies and senators, ending a Christmas recess, took up the crisis.

As they debated, mass protest rallies called by the Socialists throughout the country erupted in disorders in the capital, in Antwerp, in Namur and elsewhere.

Mounted state police charged unruly strikers with sabres in Brussels' Place Rogier, a mile from the Parliament buildings.

Nine thousand marchers trudged through the capital's main streets — but stayed clear of Brussels' neutral zone, housing Parliament and the palace.

Other than for two outbreaks of stone and torpedo throwing, the demonstration had been the most orderly so far held in the capital since the strikes began 15 days ago.

Police Taunted

But a youthful group of demonstrators caused the trouble at the end of the parade by taunting the police.

Drawing their swords, the mounted police charged and the demonstrators fled.

As they ran for the open doors of nearby shops, police on foot met them and pounded them across their heads and backs with truncheons.

Demonstrators also clashed with police in Antwerp, Tournai and on the outskirts of Namur.

Judges Trade Benches, Duties

Judge Richard O. Johnson and Judge John Jacobson traded benches and duties Tuesday in Lincoln Municipal Court, and at first glance it would seem as if Judge Jacobson drew the short straw.

Hearing 44 arraignments and assessing fines totaling $545, Judge Jacobson was off on a busy start handling city traffic cases.

Judge Johnson had little to do Tuesday, but he's facing a heavy load Thursday afternoon when the first state traffic case of 1961 will be heard. Judge Johnson also will handle civil cases.

Kennedy's Five Points

Washington (UPI) — The 5-point legislative package President-elect John F. Kennedy wants the new Congress to enact on a priority basis:

1. Aid to education — Federal grants which local communities could use to build public schools and pay teachers' salaries. (Opposition expected to teachers' salary aid.)

2. Housing — More Federal funds for slum clearance and liberalization of other programs. (House conservatives may balk.)

3. Minimum wage — An increase in the hourly minimum from $1 to $1.25 and coverage for more workers. (Opponents likely to hold out for $1.15 and oppose extensive additional coverage.)

4. Medical care for the aged — Benefits for elderly persons through the Social Security Program. (May run into delaying move in the House Ways & Means Committee.)

5. Depressed areas — New federal programs to help communities suffering chronic unemployment. (Quick approval expected.)

Hitch To Be Pentagon's Comptroller

Palm Beach, Fla. (P) — President-elect John F. Kennedy Tuesday night named economist Charles J. Hitch of Pacific Palisades, Calif., as chief financial officer of the Defense Department — the biggest spending agency of the government.

Hitch, a Democrat, will be the Pentagon's comptroller, with the title of assistant secretary of defense. In a $200-million-a-year job, he will supervise preparation of the huge defense budget. It now runs to around 40 billion dollars a year, or about half the total budget for the whole government.

New Building Approved For Labor Temple

The Labor Temple Building Assn. of Lincoln decided Tuesday night to build a new building at the present site, 217 N. 11th.

The stockholders also voted to dissolve the present corporation and form a new one with the same name, which would have an authorized capitalization of $300,000, probably in shares ranging from $25 to $100 in value.

H. L. Graham, manager, said no cost figures on the new building are available yet, but that an architect would be named and plans available by the next meeting.

President Pete Blockwitz resigned from the top position and was replaced by Marvin Ivan, former vice president. Blockwitz was elected vice president.

Charges Fly In Laos War

By The Associated Press

The jungle-shrouded war of Laos touched off East and West charges and counter charges Tuesday of intervention in the Red-menaced Asian kingdom.

While facts and propaganda efforts were weighed, the government of Laos repeated at the United Nations its charge of last weekend that several Red battalions had moved in from neighboring North Viet Nam. It made only a minor change, saying now there were 6 battalions rather than 7.

In Washington the United States accused the Soviet Union and Red North Viet Nam of carrying out at least 218 airlifts of weapons and Vietnamese soldiers to pro-Communist forces in Laos since Dec. 3.

First Class

The State Department based the charge on what it called "first class, absolutely authenticated information." The department did not specify how many North Vietnamese troops the United States believes were sent into Laos.

In Moscow the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia called the intervention charge a lie put out by the Eisenhower administration.

The pro-Western Laotian government of Premier Prince Boun Oum formally accused North Viet Nam of unprovoked aggression.

A notice filed with the United Nations claimed that 6 battalions of North Vietnamese soldiers have crossed into Laotian territory. There was yet not call from Laos for Security Council action — only the request that its notice should be circulated to the 99 U.N. members.

Search Goes On

The search for a peaceful solution to the crisis continued. In Bangkok, members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization emphasized they want a political settlement of the Laotian conflict.

SEATO Secretary-General Pote Sarasin said members feel military intervention in Laos to counter Communist aid may spread the war outside the kingdom.

Washington, under pressure from allies, conditionally withdrew its opposition to re-

25 Finns Die In Air Mishap

Vaasa, Finland (P) — A Finnish passenger plane plunged into a snow-covered forest Tuesday and exploded, killing all 25 aboard. It was Finland's worst air disaster.

The plane, a DC3 of Finnair, was flying low preparing to land at the airport near this coast city on the shores of the Gulf of Bothnia.

"Everyone aboard must have been killed instantly," a police source said. "Two violent explosions rocked the plane as it hit the ground. We have eyewitness reports that the plane was aflame in the air."

living a watchdog commission for Laos.

The evidence of Communist intervention, issued by the state department already has been known and to some extent discounted by U.S. allies concerned with Southeast Asian affairs.

Britain favors a Russian proposal to revive the International Control Commission first established for Laos after the Indochina war ended in 1954.

Judge Denies Wilson Stay Of Execution

Luther Wesley Wilson of Omaha was denied a writ of habeas corpus and stay of execution by Federal Judge Robert Van Pelt late Tuesday.

Judge Van Pelt stated in a memorandum that the writ and stay of execution were denied because:

"It appears to this court that the jury has spoken; that the Nebraska Supreme Court has affirmed the death sentence and that the U.S. Supreme Court has refused to grant certiorari; that hearings necessary to constitute due process have been held; that the petitioner's rights were fairly accorded him.

"The fact that the petitioner's life is to be taken, under the applicable laws of the State of Nebraska, the decision of the jury."

Further Steps

Lincoln Atty. Hal Bauer, who is representing the condemned Wilson, stated that he would announce Wednesday further plans to attempt to avoid execution of the defendant presently scheduled to die Jan. 13.

He indicated that he would probably either appeal the case to the Circuit Court of Appeals or the Board of Pardons — the only two remaining possibilities.

Bauer has said earlier that he would exhaust all legal remedies in an attempt to prevent electrocution of Wilson.

A motion for a rehearing was filed in Supreme Court of Nebraska and denied July 8, 1960, and a petition to the U.S. Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari was denied Nov. 7, 1960.

Wilson was convicted of the murder of liquor store clerk Raymond Rasmussen in Omaha on Feb. 28, 1958.

Man Jailed Who Admits Service Station Looting

Police jailed a 21-year-old Lincoln man Tuesday who admitted stealing $152 in cash from Les' Mobil Service Station, 2412 Sumner, Sunday afternoon.

The man told police he went to the station to meet someone and saw that the door was open. He went inside and took the money lying in a money bag.

The man's car was spotted near the station and the car's number led to the arrest.

7-State Area Traffic Death Toll Down 86

By Associated Press

Nebraska and its 6 neighboring states recorded 3,298 traffic deaths in 1960, a reduction of 86 deaths from the previous year.

This reduction was achieved despite the fact that 3 of the 7 states — Missouri, South Dakota and Colorado — listed a total of 78 more fatalities than their combined total of the previous year, an Associated Press survey showed.

The other 4 states had reductions.

Here is the final total for the 7 states as of the end of 1960:

Nebraska	291	312
Missouri	1,033	990
Wyoming	106	170

Dr. Latta, 90, Veteran Hastings Physician, Dies

Hastings — Funeral services for Dr. Elbert J. Latta, 90, physician in Adams County for 58 years, will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the First Presbyterian Church here.

Beginning his practice in Holstein in 1894, he came to Hastings in 1918 from Kenesaw where he served for 21 years. Dr. Latta, a native of Cass County, was graduated from Cotner University Department of Medicine in 1894. He retired from practice in 1952.

A member of the First Presbyterian Church of Hastings, Dr. Latta was active in Masonic circles. He was a past master of both the Kenesaw and Hastings Masonic lodges, a past potentate of Tehama Temple of the Shrine and a member of the Scottish Rite.

Surviving are his wife, Mamie; son, Robert of Chicago; daughters, Mrs. Bess Andrews of Oxnard, Calif., and Mrs. Lois Mathew of Coronado, Calif.; 9 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

Judge Directs Payment Of $176,000 Into Trust

District Judge R. M. Van Steenberg of Mitchell has directed that $176,977.52 be paid into a trust fund for the benefit of 4 members of a Lincoln family.

His ruling came in a complicated family lawsuit brought by Mrs. Delores L. Workman of 940 So. Cotner on behalf of her children, Joseph, Robert and Francine Workman and Delouise Workman Carroll.

Judge Van Steenberg ruled that Mrs. Workman's former husband, Frank M. Workman, and his parents, Mrs. Clara D. Workman of 1523 No. 23rd and her late husband, Lewis M. Workman, had been involved in a "conspiracy" and had "misappropriated the property and income" of a family trust, the Workman Trust.

Judge Van Steenberg directed that the $176,977.52 be paid into the trust for the benefit of the 4 Workman children.

Defendants in the suit were Frank M. Workman; Mrs. Clara D. Workman and Mrs. Clara D. Workman as executrix of the estate of her husband, Lewis; and the First Continental National Bank and Atty. Frederick J. Patz, co-trustees of the Workman Trust.

theoretically Terry's size 11 shoes will be hard to fill. McCosh's solution: "Don't try."

"I have no intentions of duplicating the performance of Terry Carpenter in any shape or form."

"I will not follow his legislative example," he said.

McCosh said that he will not introduce over 6 bills this session, contrasting Terry's 88 in 1959. Right now, he has two bills almost ready for introduction.

"Sometimes a legislator can serve his district better by putting a stopper on excessive legislative action," he contended.

About his colorful predecessor from Scottsbluff, McCosh said:

"Terry went off the deep end several times last session and I don't intend to do the same."

"He came to the Legislature in 1959 with high political aspirations."

"I do not possess such aspirations."

McCosh, a self-branded conservative, said, however, that Carpenter did "a lot of good."

Quickly, the newly-sworn legislator assured that his shoes (size 10½) fit just fine.

Pilot Decided To Cancel Jet Flight After Sudden Lurching

Omaha — A sudden lurching of a giant KC135 jet as it raced down an Offutt Air Force base runway was responsible for the quick decision by the pilot to call a halt to his tanker crew's mission Sunday night, the base said Tuesday.

The fuel carrier rolled and skidded more than 6,000 feet before veering from the runway. The plane was badly damaged and jet fuel poured from the tanker through a break in the light and caught fire.

An Offutt spokesman said the big tanker was less than one-third of the way down the 10,000-foot runway when it lurched. The aircraft commander, Capt. John J. Eickholt of Anthon, Iowa, decided not to take off.

The spokesman said the plane was starting a routine refueling mission. It was snowing at the time.

Capt. Eickholt and 5 other crewmen were treated at the Offutt hospital for cuts and bruises. A base fireman, A2C Donald Johnson of Dannebrog, Neb., was overcome by smoke. He was released from the hospital Monday.

Fuel was drained from the

23 Active Rigs Operating Here

Denver — The final week of 1960 found 232 rotaries at work in Rocky Mountain-high plains oil and gas fields.

Petroleum Information, reporting this figure Tuesday, said it was 24 below the year-end total for 1959.

The count of active rigs by states included 23 in Nebraska and 15 in North Dakota. Completions for the week totaled 86 wells, including 14 in Nebraska.

Other developments included:

Nebraska — Burch Drilling recovered 980 feet of slightly muddy oil on drill stem test of Lansing-Kansas City at a Silver Creek Field offset in Red Willow County.

Judge Van Steenberg, who heard the case because Lancaster District Judge Paul White had disqualified himself, also said in his ruling on the case that the bank (formerly the Continental National Bank) and Patz "did not use reasonable care and diligence in their trust obligations and are liable for the full $176,977 judgment."

But the judge directed the plaintiffs to make every effort to recover the judgment from Frank M. and Clara D. Workman before making the bank and Patz liable for the award.

The lawsuit was filed in 1955 and involved the leasing of the Laverty Apts. at 429 So. 12th and the Jackson Apts. at 1111-1119 by Frank M. Workman to his parents, Frank M. and Delores L. Workman were divorced the following year.

Judge Van Steenberg in his order ruled that title to the two apartment houses belonged to the plaintiffs.

A 1958 dismissal of the suit was carried to the State Supreme Court where the local district court's action was reversed and the case sent back for further action.

An appeal of Judge Van Steenberg's ruling to the high court also is possible.

Simmons Sees Morrison Meet As 'Formality'

Fremont — Retiring Sen. Ray Simmons of Fremont said Tuesday it appears that his meeting with Governor-elect Frank Morrison Wednesday evening to discuss the work load at the University of Nebraska law school will be just a formality.

In a statement Simmons said Morrison apparently has made up his mind and "probably is going to do nothing about the situation."

Simmons has charged that the work load of the law faculty is too light, and Morrison had scheduled a meeting with him to discuss his views.

Simmons recalled that Morrison has said he wants to eliminate waste in government and that he is carefully examining the budgets of all other state agencies.

He said Morrison has indicated that the board of regents "is responsible for the budget and operating procedures of the University."

"What is so special about the University that whereas all other state agencies' budgets are carefully examined by him, the university alone is immune from his close scrutiny," Simmons asked.

2 Lincoln Boys Plead Innocent

Two teen-age Lincoln boys pleaded innocent to burglary charges Tuesday in County Court.

Robert Harig, 18, of 6607 Burlington, and David Hergenrader, 18, of 6617 Platte, were charged with the Dec. 23 burglary of Larson's Auto Service at 6440 Havelock and also with the Dec. 30 burglary of the Seal-Rite Mfg. Co. at 3500 No. 48th.

Acting County Judge Ralph Slocum accepted their innocent pleas to both charges and set their preliminary hearing for Jan. 18. Their appearance bonds were fixed at $5,000 each.

Bank Clearings Up To $46 Million

Bank clearings at Lincoln banks in December rose to $46,626,343.30, bringing the 1960 total clearings to $507,571,237.03.

Clearings for Nov., 1960, totaled $38,157,125.99. Clearings for Dec., 1959 were $54,171,204.17, and for the entire year of 1959 were $616,861,043.71.

Gray Remaining In Washington

Hastings — Robert Gray, native of Hastings and secretary of President Eisenhower's cabinet, has been selected a vice president of Hill and Knowlton, Inc., international public relations counsel.

He will assume direction of the firm's Washington office Jan. 21.

Gray will be in Hastings Feb. 7 to serve as master of ceremonies at the annual Greater Hastings dinner. Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton, also of Hastings, will be the speaker.

T. G. Dinsdale, Palmer, Is Dead

Palmer — Funeral services were held here Tuesday for T. G. Dinsdale, 76, longtime resident of Palmer.

He was in the cattle feeding and grain business for 54 years with his brother, George.

Release Mrs. Freeman In Fatal Shooting Case

Clay Center — Clay County Sheriff H. J. Hoyt said Tuesday Mrs. Harriett Freeman had been released from custody and no charges had been filed in the fatal shooting of James Jansen, 28, of Fremont.

The 31-year-old Fremont divorcee had been held since she took Hansen to Fairfield early Saturday. He died in a Hastings hospital shortly afterward of a bullet wound in the head.

Hoyt said Mrs. Freeman at first said Hansen had shot himself accidentally but later declared the death was a suicide.

The sheriff reported powder burns on Hansen's head indicated the .22 caliber rifle which took his life was fired at close range.

Hoyt said Mrs. Freeman related the shooting occurred

Wallace Resigns For Senate Post

Omaha — Dean Wallace, chief assistant to the U.S. district attorney in Omaha, has announced his resignation, Wallace said he will become minority counsel with the Senate Committee on anti-trust and monopoly legislation.

The U.S. attorney's office is one which traditionally changes hands with a change of federal administrations.

Wallace is a native of Kearney.

State Lawmakers Face Job

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Members of the 1951 State Legislature have begun a session which promises to be both historic and exciting. A great many separate issues will come before the senators but money is again at the top of the list. With state agencies submitting budgets calling for an average 26 per cent increase over 1959-61 figures, the legislators certainly have their work cut out for them.

Advance reports indicate that the senators are generally concerned over the growing demand for expansion of state services and the Unicameral will undoubtedly have among its membership those who will oppose any such expansion on the simple grounds of economy. Both Gov. Dwight Burney and Governor-elect Frank B. Morrison have reported their budgets will call for an increase of approximately 10 per cent in state spending. It would seem that the establishment of an arbitrary limit is not in the best interest of the state and it is hoped that the budget messages from both Burney and Morrison show more than an arbitrary decision.

Any state official should take up his duties determined to give the people the most and very best for the money they spend because it comes from the pockets of all the people, most of whom cannot afford to pick up the tab for wasted expenditures and none of whom would want to do so.

But an injustice of even greater magnitude can be done by the public official who refuses to recognize the needs of his people or do anything to satisfy them. State legislators should keep in mind the fact that they represent the state as much as they do their own particular districts. To base every decision on the expected reaction of local voters is to absolve one's self of responsibility.

Any public official should remember that he is elected to office for the purpose of ascertaining needs and satisfying them. It is his job to know a little bit more about the shortcomings of the state than the average voter. When he sees an agency of government in need of expansion or a program of needed improvement, he should not turn it down simply because it might cost money. What he is expected to do is spend money wisely, not refuse to spend it at all.

When voters tell a senator, for instance, that they want no broadened tax base, it might well be because they do not fully appreciate the problems faced by the state. They are not in the Legislature and, therefore, do not face the flood of proposals which come before the lawmakers at every session. Without such first-hand knowledge of demands, it is only logical they would be against any change which seems to spell an increase in taxes. A legislator is expected to study a program or situation and base his decision on ultimate benefits as well as initial costs.

Aside from money, the state senators will face such issues as reapportionment of the legislature's membership and redistricting for congressional representation. There will be many questions regarding the various state institutions, including proposed changes in the Board of Control. There will be questions on capital punishment, on billboard advertising, on a constitutional convention and a host of other issues.

Some of these things will involve money, some will involve special interests and others will involve politics. But all of them will require a dedication of spirit and integrity if the state is to have any future. When voters approved an increase in the salaries for legislators and a program of industrial expansion, they showed their integrity and willingness to invest in the future.

If the state senators become bogged down in endless squabbling over detailed tax measures, if they follow the dictates of selfish interests and if they hew to any special political line, they will be abusing the trust and confidence which have been placed in them by the electorate. Not every state senator is going to become great in terms of publicity but every senator can be great in terms of allegiance to his convictions. Not every senator is going to be right in everything he does but peace of mind will come to those who have voted to the best of their ability.

There should not be undue alarm over the eruption of controversy from time to time in the halls of the legislative chamber. Conflict is to be welcomed if it is constructive and a means pursued for truth as an end. Let the light of honest debate shine on every issue but let the final decision be made in strength and courage.

Destiny Of 'Greatness'

Four Year Observance

Next Sunday it is planned that every church bell in the nation shall start ringing at 11 a.m.

Since a great many church bells habitually ring at that time anyway because 11 o'clock has widespread acceptance as a proper time to assemble congregations for religious worship this special ringing calls for an explanation.

It is the manner in which the four year commemoration of the Civil War will be initiated.

The Civil War centennial has a number of remarkable aspects. First, it will extend over a four year period, matching the duration of the hostilities. Not many observances go that long. Second, it looks back on the only time this nation ever went to war on itself. Third, it recalls the days when nations could disregard compromise and still expect to survive after a resort to force. That could hardly be done today in a world confronted by nuclear weapons. Fourth, it was a curious war in which force decided the war but actually slew both parties and brought forth a new nation. That is to say, the North which won it ceased to be and the South which lost it also ceased to be.

Finally the war extinguished one of the liberties that never should have been in the first place. It is the liberty of dismissing facts and reason plus inevitabilities in favor of partisanship and wishfulness.

During the coming four years it will be stirring to revisit the old battlefields and thrill to the stories of courage and nobility but the lesson will be lost if we do not realize that national strong headedness and wrong headedness were paid for by the lives of a flower of a generation.

Depends On Economy

More should be involved in the legislative program of President-elect John F. Kennedy than a split between liberal and conservative elements of Congress. It would be fantastic if any congressman could sit down and in complete ignorance of the economic state of the nation reach a decision on such major issues as housing, minimum wage, aid to education, depressed areas and medical aid for the aged.

Political philosophy may in many or even most cases be the most decisive factor involved in the final outcome but an intelligent decision cannot be based on this alone. When he submits his legislative program, Kennedy is going to have to submit also an outline of his economic position for the coming year. For one thing, he will have to produce hope of a balanced budget, which he promised throughout his campaign.

Secondly, he will have to show where the money for these new or expanded programs is going to come from. This doesn't necessarily rule out a tax increase but any senator or representative who voted without knowledge of the economic effects of his vote would be in a ridiculous position. We have relied too long already on the careless use of catchy terms to size up every individual and every program.

It is time that all the American people looked at the various programs on the national scene for what they are, not for what name group they happen to fit into. Kennedy's program could not be undertaken without cuts in other areas or an increase in government revenue. If his program can stimulate the national economy to produce that increase in revenue, that is one thing but if the increase would have to come through a higher tax levy, then the question is quite another one.

Hard Year For The UN

The new year is not opening on an optimistic note for the United Nations.

It is short on money and long on problems. It has been badly shaken by the show put on by Nikita Khrushchev, and there is a rising disaffection in the United States because this nation no longer exercises predominant influence. Add to that the extreme difficulty of bringing anything orderly and constructive out of the Congo, and line up Laos as the next frustration and you have a pretty bleak picture. If it is not a picture of dissolution, of the end of a noble experiment in organized world co-operation by peaceful settlement, it is at least a picture of member nations which find themselves unable to live up to the responsibilities and the disciplines of this new and almost fatally dangerous era.

The judgment is not so much on the United Nations as on the great powers which compose it. And it will be a mistake if all of these troubles result in a verdict against it.

As for the United States, as well as Russia, there will be more loss than gained in turning away from the UN. Both are guilty of a struggle for domination. The rancor of Moscow largely shakes down to an unwillingness to accept any verdict by a majority which is not subject to Russian desires. And the disaffection in the United States for an organization that now does not always deliver a majority is only a milder form of the same disease.

The United States must keep in mind that its real power and influence in the world is not based on a world organization, but on the basic fact that by its daily living and action it is the greatest force among the western nations and possibly of the whole world. No vote by the UN can alter that fact and it is by that fact that the world must live. In the face of that the UN becomes an asset as an additional means of communication of which it is not necessary always to prevail.

Dangerous Precedent

How Mrs. John F. Kennedy wears her hair and what her style of dress might be are matters in which it is quite proper that she set a precedent. Even little Caroline Kennedy's occasional unexpected entry into affairs of state is something which is taken with good humor and a bit of amusement. But the New York Times reports that Mrs. Kennedy accompanied her President-elect husband on the golf course last week. Here is a precedent Mr. Kennedy had better guard against lest he incur the wrath of happy golfers throughout the land.

Rogers Overrules Nixon On Hoffa

WASHINGTON — Private correspondence has been uncovered by this column revealing that Vice President Nixon intervened with his friend Attorney General Bill Rogers' chief Jimmy Hoffa in the Florida land scandal.

Rogers held up the indictment until after the election, then acted against the wishes of the vice president, who had become politically indebted to Hoffa. As early as last August an Orlando, Fla., grand jury was ready to indict Hoffa for allegedly misusing union funds to promote a real estate development. But the indictment was not brought. Rogers sat on it while Hoffa was helping the Republicans in the presidential campaign.

Hoffa's political support was arranged by a Nixon emissary who secretly huddled with him in a Miami Beach hotel room more than a year ago. The controversial Hoffa was careful not to endorse Nixon openly, but passed word to his henchmen across the country to campaign for Nixon. The Teamsters were instrumental, for instance, in switching Ohio, considered safe for Kennedy, into the Nixon column.

But once the election was over, Rogers went ahead with the Hoffa indictment anyway. Nixon was not so quick to forget his political obligation, and tried to talk Rogers out of it. However, the attorney general not only ignored Nixon but gave the indictment extra significance by announcing it himself from Washington.

Ex-California Congressman Oakley Hunter, the secret intermediary between Nixon and Hoffa, promptly apologized to Hoffa in a "Dear Jim" letter dated December 8. "I was sorry to hear of the indictment against you in the Orlando matter," Hunter wrote. "I know for a fact that your side of the case was put before the vice president and that he discussed the case with the attorney general, Bill Rogers. I do not know what was said by the vice president to Rogers. I do know, however, that the vice president has been sympathetic toward you and has felt that you were being subjected to undue harassment by certain parties. He has consistently refrained from criticizing you or jumping on the bandwagon with those who have felt that kicking you around was a popular and politically expedient thing to do."

"It would be my surmise that Bill Rogers acted as he did for reasons of his own," Hunter added. "Mr. Nixon having lost the election, I doubt that he has since been in a position to exercise any decisive degree of influence. As vice president he has no authority to order the attorney general to do anything."

Naturally Hoffa was furious over what he considered a political double-cross and wanted Nixon to take a public stand against the indictment.

Kennedy Fashions Administrative Team

WASHINGTON — President-elect John F. Kennedy's continuing stream of visitors reveals his swift and personal descent into the bowels of the appointive processes of his new office. It should still all doubt that he means to be a strong president, determined to command the federal machinery.

The president-elect has moved far beyond the prestige-laden top cabinet appointments that make headlines to the subcommittee and independent regulatory agencies. Such offices are the bread and butter of politics, the real operators of the government.

With his minute attention to them Kennedy is proving that his political instincts are in good working order. Not since the early New Deal has Washington seen anything like this.

Clark Clifford, who blueprinted the transition period for Kennedy, estimated that about 225 critical appointments must be made promptly if the new administration were to take firm hold of the government on January 20.

There are, of course, other thousands of federal jobs to be filled, but the men now being named will do the pick-and-shovel work. Their formulation and administration of policy will attract the great bulk of bows or brickbats for the Kennedy administration.

Notably Kennedy's choices for his top cabinet posts are not by themselves picking

Nixon Starts 1964 Campaign

WASHINGTON — Whatever 1961 may bring to the nation and the world, and this is the season of the slightly cracked crystal ball, the future of one man who figured so prominently in the annals of the year just ended seems unmistakably clear.

The visitors whom Vice-President Richard Nixon has been seeing since his southern vacation have left few doubts. He means with all the resolute disciplined intensity that is central to his character to run for president in 1964. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that he began to run for a second time on the day after the returns showed he had lost by such a heartbreaking narrow margin.

In the immediate aftermath of the election the speculation was that Nixon, upon returning to California, would prepare to run for governor against Edmund G. (Pat) Brown in 1962. But those closest to him doubt this is even a possibility.

He sees no reason why, having run for president and been defeated by a teacupful of votes out of an overflowing 66,000,000 cast, he should turn around and run for governor of California. California Republicans believe the odds would be in his favor. Brown has had to take some hard knocks, including the violent repercussions over the Caryl Chessman case. As was demonstrated during the campaign, Nixon's personal organization in the state is highly effective.

With a Democratic registration margin of 3 to 2, the Republicans carried the state in November by a small margin. It took the absentee ballots to do it. While the outcome was still in doubt during that cliffhanging night, Nixon's press secretary, Herbert Klein, made the confident prediction that California would end up in the Nixon column. How much religious prejudice was a factor in the vote in southern California no one can say.

But however long the odds in Nixon's favor in a state which has almost always gone Republican in spite of a preponderant Democratic registration in recent years he might lose in a gubernatorial race. And that would certainly put a period to the vice-president's political future. The belief is that Nixon does not need public office to stay in the public eye.

Practicing law with a Los Angeles firm he will speak, write and travel widely. This was what Adlai Stevenson did between his defeat in 1952 and his renomination in 1956. Nixon will not lack for platforms either for speaking or writing, and with a judicious sense of timing he can get almost as much mileage as though his words were those of a successful office holder.

He has what Stevenson did not have and that is a political task force personally loyal to him in every corner of the country. These men and women including those who went through the campaign at his side, will be working in season and out to advance Nixon's fortunes. They will, in effect, be preparing for the primary contests in which '64 Nixon will put his standing to the test.

What made the California victory the more remarkable was the shambles in which the Republican party was left after the disaster of 1958. Pat Brown won by a majority of more than a million votes over Sen. William F. Knowland who had insisted on running for the governorship. He had rudely pushed

Gov. Goodwin Knight aside, and Goody had therefore by default made a faint-hearted race for the Senate seat. The hostility between these two was far greater than anything they generated against their Democratic opponents.

That cloud no bigger than a man's hand on the California horizon today is the intimation from Knight that he may decide to run for governor again next year. This would touch off the old feud in full fury. And one of the early Nixon maneuvers must be Operation Knight.

As seen from the Nixon camp, the national picture is even more promising than the outlook in California. Essentially it comes down to this: the two extremes in the party, the Goldwater followers on the right and the Rockefeller marchers on the left, will kill each other off. And this leaves the broad middle road of Republicanism open to none other than Richard Milhouse Nixon.

That, in any event, is how the script presently reads. A great deal can happen in four years. Governor Rockefeller can be re-elected in 1962 with so impressive a showing that he will inevitably be the candidate. Or Kennedy may so triumph over the mountain of obstacles now in his path that the Republican nomination for '64 will not seem to be worth very much.

In the past hundred years no Republican except President Eisenhower has ever served two full terms in the presidency. On the Democratic side Grover Cleveland was defeated at the end of one term and then after an interval of four years won a second term. So on past performance the odds favor the Democrats as against the Republicans. But that is to take a long look indeed into a troubled future.

Seeking Solution

Lincoln, Neb.

In view of recent developments pertaining to the actions and proposals meant to deal with our farm problems, we should commend the new incoming administrations on their forthright and far-reaching decisions.

Here in Nebraska we are gratified and optimistic about the approaches already made by the appointment of several midwestern men to key positions in the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Some people analyzed the results of the November election by stating that midwestern farmers voted to repudiate the Democratic proposed farm program and its candidate for President and therefore they received no mandate to impose these ideas upon us. Others of us feel a true concept of our seemingly "political paradox" would be that these voters let other issues that should have had no bearing upon their voting judgment unduly influence them into voting for candidates whose past records show a complete lack of understanding or ability to cope with our present problems.

The efforts being put forth here in Nebraska since the election fully verify the awareness of this situation as it appears on the surface to other people. We realize that certain elements even among our so-called agricultural groups are attempting to distort the actual facts and prevent a true analysis from being presented.

Governor-elect Morrison's "Breadbasket Conference" and the more recent "Food for Peace" meeting illustrate the realization of the need for a new approach to more unified action and presentation of such action by groups of people such as the Farm Policy Council.

This recently formed group representing six midwestern states is non-political and unaffiliated with any local or national organization and includes members of the two major political parties and all major farm organizations. It is open to participation to anyone interested in its activities and welcomes suggestions and viewpoints expressed for a better understanding and solution to our farm problems.

With these expressions of vigorous leadership on both the national and statewide levels, everyone awaits a just and workable solution to his problem.

Down What River?

Hastings, Neb.

A Lincolnite who calls himself "A Republican" wants a hot seat in this corner. He needs it, considering how little he knows on the subject he has tackled. He holds that such conferences as those at "Moscow, Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam" were the ones that sold our country down the river.

There has been no Moscow conference. The Teheran conference was carried out under the terms of the Atlantic Charter. That means, to help those nations that helped the allies. Iran did that. It gave the allies the oil that was needed to help defeat Nazi Germany, led to war under Hitler.

The Yalta conference had to do with the overthrow of the Nazi war machine in Germany. It called for the allied supreme commanders to partition Germany into zones. Dwight Eisenhower was one of the three supreme commanders. He let old Joe Stalin put Berlin into his own zone. And there is where our trouble lies with Khrushchev now! Mind you, Harry Truman was still in the U.S. Senate.

The Potsdam Declaration had to do with Japan and its war lords. After Pearl Harbor, we set about to overthrow the Japanese war machine. The Potsdam Declaration announced our determination to blast that war machine and restore to the Chinese the islands the Japanese had taken. Harry Truman was now in command and the world knows how he ended it.

And these are the things that our isolationist Republican says sent our country down the river.

PHONE—ALL DEPARTMENTS—HE 2-1234

Senate Unit To Check Crashes

Washington (UPI) — Chairman A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., said Tuesday his Senate aviation subcommittee will conduct full-scale hearings next month on the grim record of airline accidents in 1960.

Monroney said a number of witnesses from the Federal Aviation Agency and the Civil Aeronautics Board, which are charged with regulating air safety, would be summoned to testify at the public hearings, probably beginning the week of Feb. 6.

A total of 378 persons died in airline accidents last year — the largest number in scheduled airline history.

Monroney also told a reporter he planned to go to New York Thursday to attend CAB hearings on the Dec. 16 collision over New York City between a United Air Lines jet and a Trans World Airlines Constellation which cost 136 lives. The hearings open Wednesday.

Monroney said this disaster, worst in the nation's history, would be among those reviewed by his subcommittee.

He said the group also would take another look at the safety record of the prop-jet Electra aircraft, which has been involved in a number of fatal accidents.

Monroney's statement came as President Eisenhower lauded Gen. Elwood R. (Pete) Quesada in accepting his resignation as head of the aviation agency. In a "dear Pete" letter, Eisenhower told Quesada he had "only the highest praise for you as a top flight administrator and aviation pioneer."

Quesada's resignation is effective Jan. 20 when the Eisenhower administration leaves office.

The President's statement coincided with a charge by Francis M. McDermott, executive director of the Air Traffic Control Association that the government had spent more than $100 million since 1956 without reducing the menace of air collisions.

In a statement, he specifically criticized Quesada's agency, which employs most of the association's 9,500 members.

McDermott said that when Congress established FAA 3 years ago, the lawmakers "clearly recognized the fact that air traffic control was the paramount problem." But FAA, he charged, never has placed sufficient emphasis on the problem.

"Our lawmakers . . . will find that the Bureau of Air Traffic Management — the federal guardian of air traffic control — occupies the same position as all other bureaus within the agency," McDermott said. "The bureau has no direct authority to state its requirement, and no procedure to insure that these requirements will be met."

The ATCA head also said FAA's organizational structure has blocked recruitment of qualified air traffic control personnel because "it places the agency's personnel manager above the Bureau of Air Traffic Management."

McDermott said "both the public and Congress have been lulled into a sense of false security that 'all is well' in air traffic control."

He said the federal government had invested "well over $100 million in research" since a United Airliner and a TWA plane collided over the Grand Canyon in 1956 but there still is "an almost complete void of stated operational requirements."

Center Meeting Slated Monday

The annual meeting of the Southwest Community Center will be held Monday at the center building, 1145 High.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a dinner, followed by a business meeting at which new officers will be elected and several new board members chosen.

Vitamvas Deputy Attorney General

Attorney General-elect Clarence Meyer appointed Gerald S. Vitamvas, 43, as his deputy attorney general effective Thursday when Meyer will be sworn in as attorney general.

Vitamvas, an assistant attorney general since 1956, said he felt "honored and privileged to serve under Mr. Meyer, who I admire and respect both as a lawyer and as a person."

Meyer, who replaces Clarence Beck who did not seek re-election after holding the attorney general post for 10 years, said Vitamvas "is well qualified and outstanding" for the deputy post.

Vitamvas' duties will be mainly administrative, helping to assign cases to the various assistant attorney generals. But he will also handle case work.

Vitamvas will be salaried at $9,500 a year in the deputy post. A replacement for Vitamvas is expected to be announced soon by Meyer.

Born In Fremont
Vitamvas was born in Fremont where he graduated from high school in 1934. He received a Bachelor's degree at the University of Nebraska and a law degree in 1940.

He returned to Fremont where he was associated with a law firm for a year, but as a Reserve Army officer was called to active duty in 1941 with the 3rd Infantry Regiment.

He served in Minnesota, Newfoundland, Georgia and Texas before being released from active duty in 1946.

Returning to Nebraska, Vitamvas was an examiner for the State Railway Commission for about 10 months, then became deputy clerk of the Nebraska Supreme Court, a position he held for 10 years before becoming an assistant attorney general in 1956.

He is married to the former Marjorie Thompson of Geneva and Fremont, and has two children, Judith Ann, 16, and Gerald L., 9. They live at 1300 So. 37th.

Vitamvas is a Reserve lieutenant colonel in the Judge Advocate General's Corps, a member of the American Legion, Scottish Rite, First Plymouth Congregational Church and the Nebraska and American Bar Associations.

Soviet engineers are studying a proposal to build a 200-mile-long dam from the western shore of the Caspian Sea to the Mangyshlak Peninsula on the eastern shore. Its purpose would be to control the rise and fall of the sea's water level.

Legislature Likely To Last Nearly Six Months

By Odell Hanson
AP Writer

Nebraska's 72nd state legislature convened at noon Tuesday, setting in motion a law-making machine likely to run for nearly 6 months.

The rap of a gavel calling the nation's only unicameral one-house legislature to order served also as kickoff to an eventful three days in state government.

By midnight Thursday

—Retiring Republican Gov. Dwight Burney will have delivered the traditional governor's message, including his budget recommendations, to the legislature Wednesday.

—Incoming Gov. Frank B. Morrison will have taken the oath of office as governor, placing the chief executive's post back in Democratic hands Thursday.

—Nebraskans will have frolicked at the traditional inaugural ball Thursday night.

Fifteen first-term senators moved into the west legislative chamber for the start of the session.

Missing were such veterans as Sen. Terry Carpenter, the Scottsbluff firebrand; 10-term Sen. Harry Pizer of North Platte, speaker of the 1959 session and two special sessions held since then; Sen. John Cooper of Humboldt, who dropped out to make an unsuccessful Republican race for the governorship last year; Sen. Al Fenske of Sunol, a veteran of four terms, and three-term Sen. Arthur Swanson of Holdrege.

Sixteen senators actually were replaced as a result of the elections in November, some retiring voluntarily and others getting the retirement treatment from voters.

In the case of new Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt, however, it's a case of a return after a two-year absence. A recount following the 1958 election made George Fulton of Beatrice a winner over Waldo, but Waldo recaptured the seat from Fulton in 1960.

New "dean" of the legislature in length of service is Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, starting his ninth term.

Problems with which the unicameral will wrestle this year include most of the old favorites—spending, taxation, education and highways.

On the basis of past performance, the legislature can be expected to remain in session until nearly the Fourth of July, and around 700 bills can be expected to be introduced.

Two years ago the legislature set an endurance record by remaining in session 120 legislative days—from Jan. 6 to June 27. Bills introduced totaled 739, also a record.

ERLEWINES ENTERTAIN 235 GUESTS

Sen. and Mrs. Dale Erlewine of Grant entertained 235 persons at an open house at their farm home 4 miles north of Grant, the senator reported Tuesday on arrival in Lincoln for the start of a new legislative session.

By newspaper, a general invitation had been extended to constituents of the senator's 37th District to attend the 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. affair.

Scientific View

Washington (AP) — A leading scientist, Dr. Robert M. Page, research director at the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory, says world peace will come "only when all mankind turns wholeheartedly to God in complete humility and voluntary unconditional surrender."

Rail Commission Arguments Friday

The Nebraska Railway Commission Tuesday set oral arguments on a motion for a rehearing of an application by Ferd W. Kopf and others of Eddyville for authority to be released from the Eddyville, Cozad and Oconto exchange areas.

The arguments will be Friday in the Capitol. The application had earlier been turned down by the Commission.

Baptists And Kennedy

Nashville, Tenn. (AP) — Nine annual state Southern Baptist meetings, held since the presidential election, have voiced prayerful support for President-elect John F. Kennedy. Such resolutions were passed by conventions in Kansas, California, Georgia, North Carolina, Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Ohio and the District of Columbia.

Ex-Lincolnite H. H. Marvin To GE Post

Dr. Henry H. Marvin, former Lincolnite and University of Nebraska graduate, has been appointed manager of the Chemical Metallurgy Section at the General Electric Research Laboratory.

The appointment was recently announced by Dr. Walter H. Hibbard Jr., manager of the Metallurgy and Ceramics Research Department at Schenectady, N.Y.

A University graduate, Dr. Marvin received his bachelor's degree in 1947, and obtained his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin.

He joined the staff of the Research Laboratory in 1950 and worked first in the Chemistry Research Department, studying the high-temperature oxidation of metals. He later served as a liaison scientist and as a specialist in personnel and administration in the same department.

In 1958 he joined the staff of the Chemical Metallurgy Section, where he has engaged in research on conduction in molecular crystals.

Dr. and Mrs. Marvin and their two children presently reside in Schenectady.

Year Ends With 16 Polio Cases Reported

One more case of animal rabies was reported to the State Health Department during the last week of 1960, officials said Tuesday. The case, a dog in Douglas County, brings the total for 1960 to 41, compared to 48 during 1959.

Other cases during 1960 may still be reported later, however. No more polio was reported. The year ended with 16 cases reported, compared to 131 during 1959. Others may still be reported, however.

Congo Aid Sought

Buck Hill Falls, Pa. (AP) — The World Council of Churches, at a meeting of its division of inter-church aid and service to refugees, issued an appeal for a million dollars for projects to aid the Congo.

GAYLORD BLANC CHAIRMAN OF LANCASTER HEART FUND

Gaylord L. Blanc, manager of a local insurance agency, was appointed 1961 Heart Fund Chairman in Lancaster County Wednesday in preparation for the annual fund raising campaign, which begins nationwide February 1.

Appointed by Miss Helen L. Becker, chairman of the Nebraska Heart Fund from Lincoln, Blanc will head thousands of volunteers in all communities of the county during the month-long campaign.

"The heart and blood vessel diseases are still the nation's number one health enemy," Blanc said.

He explained that research has top priority for fund dollars but public and professional education and community service "which are the by-products of research" will have complete programs.

Blanc is past president of the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Lincoln Association of Fire and Casualty Agents. He is presently serving as treasurer of the Pioneer Housing Corporation and as a board member of the Children's Zoo Association.

Omaha Foundation Files To Incorporate

Articles of incorporation were filed in the Nebraska secretary of state's office Tuesday by the McFarling Foundation, Inc., of Omaha.

The non-profit association was incorporated to receive and administer funds for religious, educational, eleemosynary, benevolent and charitable purposes.

Incorporators were Louis A. McFarling, Norma McFarling and Harry J. Farnham, all of Omaha.

Methodists Taxed

Nashville, Tenn. (AP) — The Methodist Publishing house has to start paying taxes on its operations here, the Tennessee State Board of Equalization has ruled. The church publishing concern has previously been tax-exempt.

Pickpockets Find Everything From...

By Gerry Deal

"Everything from soup to nuts," is an old saying, but Lincoln's professional pickpockets discover just that every day of the week.

If you've had difficulty chewing for lack of those store dentures, or if you're afraid to write another check for fear you might be overdrawn at the bank, you might give your cleaning establishment a buzz.

How can a local cleaning establishment solve your problems?

It's quite simple. Their personnel or "professional pickpockets" find many and varied things in garment pockets which their customers have neglected to remove before sending their clothes to the cleaners.

Important documents, unmailed letters, stories (spicy and otherwise), money, bank books and even false teeth, are among items found, according to cleaning establishments.

Reunion Is Touching

Raleigh, N.C. (AP)—"It was touching to find a loved one after so many years," said James J. Lancaster of Raleigh after a reunion with a cousin he hadn't seen in 41 years. Lancaster and the cousin, Luther Willford of Rt. 1, Willow Springs, were reunited in the Wake County jail. Lancaster was charged with public drunkenness and Willford with public drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Spit And Argue Club Humming

Long Beach, Calif. (UPI)—Any fine afternoon down by the Long Beach shore between Rainbow Pier and the NU-Pike amusement zone will find a cluster of people engaged in energetic discussion.

Formally titled the Long Beach Forum, or the University-by-the-Sea, the group is locally known more familiarly as the Spit and Argue Club.

In a specially erected pavilion with speaker's platform and accommodation for about 400, old timers gather to enjoy lively debate.

Inspired by the view of the bay, the warm Long Beach sun and fresh sea air, the discussions are anything but leisurely. The old folks (mostly men, with just a sprinkling of women) have the opportunity to let off steam to a like-minded audience—favorite topics being pensions, Social Security, retirement age, interspersed with many a plug

One reported finding five $1 bills from the State Bank of Ethiopia, the owner of which has never been located.

Many fraternity and sorority pins are left on sweaters and shirts, and "we even found some on pajamas," another said.

Among the most common articles are knives, show laces, tie clasps, cuff links, pictures, keys, pens, pencils, pennies and dimes, nail clippers, lipstick, earrings, matches, medicine, combs and handkerchiefs.

Ruling Given On Gifts To Charitable Institutions

A charitable institution receiving a single or an occasional gift conditioned by periodic payments to the donor is excluded from regulation by the State Insurance Department.

This is especially true "assuming that the corpus of the gift is not made a part of the general fund of the institution but kept and invested separately so that the income therefrom can be paid to the donor until his death."

That was the conclusion of Attorney General Clarence Beck and Assistant Attorney General Dwain Jones in an opinion requested by State Insurance Director William Grubbs.

But the opinion said that should such a charitable institution "aggressively promote . . . and pledge its corporate assets to get the agreed payments," it would be subject to regulation by the State Insurance Department.

Grubbs asked for the opinion concerning annuities paid by eleemosynary or charitable institutions.

Grubbs said the amount to be paid annually is computed as a percentage of the original payment of the institution.

He said the percentage would vary with the age of the individual at the time of entering into the contract.

Taxpayers Urged To 'File Early'

Richard P. Vinal, director of Internal Revenue for Nebraska, urged taxpayers Tuesday to "file early" for better service in tax returns.

Vinal added that for those who prepare their own returns, the Lincoln office will be especially prepared to give direct technical assistance on Mondays, 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., during the filing period. The 1960 Income Tax Return filing period runs through April 15.

He continued that the Lincoln office will also be prepared to give prompt telephone assistance in answer to taxpayers' questions during office hours, Monday through Friday.

Free Parking Set For County Road At Airport

By Del Harding
The County Board Tuesday indicated it would not ban parking along the county road leading to Lincoln's Municipal Airport.

Earlier the board had indicated it would prohibit parking along the road but board members indicated growing dissatisfaction with parking facilities at the airport.

The commissioners recently vacated part of a county road to allow its use for airport parking. The Airport Authority then set up a parking lot at which customers must pay to park — and included the vacated county road in the lot.

Commissioner Ralph Harlan said he is opposed to giving away a public road and then making the public pay to park on it.

He noted the commissioners have been given free passes to the lot but said he was elected to represent the public and they don't have any such passes.

Commissioners Kenneth Bourne and Rollin Bailey sided with him. Bourne commented that none of the commissioners knew of the plans to use the vacated county road as part of the paid parking lot or else the board would not have gone along with the proposal.

Lincoln's Census
Official: 155,272
Washington (AP) — The final 1960 census figures showed Tuesday that the Lincoln metropolitan area has a population of 155,272 and the Omaha metropolitan area has 457,873.

Property Valuations Upped For 3 Firms

The County Board of Equalization Tuesday increased personal property valuations of 3 local business firms but deferred action on a 4th until later this week.

The board, comprised of the 3 county commissioners, added $946,775 in accounts receivable to the 1960 personal property tax return of Dobson Bros. Construction Co. and added $45,810 in accounts receivable to the return of its subsidiary, the D-B Equipment Co.

The two firms had listed these accounts receivable totals on their returns but had then subtracted from them such items as accounts payable. The result was the entire wiping out of their accounts receivable totals.

The board backed up the position of the county assessor's office that these deductions should not have been made, and so added back on the accounts receivable totals.

Both the 1959 and 1960 returns of Zale Jewelers of 1320 O were increased.

The board boosted the firm's 1959 inventory value from $18,150 to $109,000 and its accounts receivable total from $12,450 to $114,000.

Zale's 1960 inventory total was increased from $18,570 to $90,000 and its accounts receivable total from $13,640 to $131,000.

The county assessor's office reportedly could not get the Zale home office in Dallas, Tex., to furnish it with wholesale inventory values and the board's action followed.

L. R. Ricketts Eyed As New Acting Judge

County Judge-elect Ralph W. Slocum said Tuesday he will recommend appointment of Atty. L. R. Ricketts as the new acting county judge.

The County Board is expected to approve the appointment next week.

Ricketts, 50, lives at 3415 W. Pershing Rd. A University of Nebraska Law College graduate, he has practiced law here since 1933.

The acting county judge takes over during absences of the regular county judge. Slocum himself has been acting county judge since 1942 and will take over as county judge Thursday.

Slocum said he will retain the present County Court staff, which is headed by Clerk Harold Hamlin.

Col. Sanders Stays State Patrol Chief
Col. C. J. Sanders will be reappointed as chief of the State Safety Patrol, Governor-elect Frank Morrison announced Tuesday.

Morrison also named Hebron attorney W. O. Baldwin to a new unpaid position as state safety director.

Sanders has been with the Patrol since 1937, being one of the original 44 officers assigned to duty.

He has held his present position since 1941.

Sanders, 57, became eligible for retirement in 1958. He must retire by June 13, 1963 according to mandatory limitations.

Baldwin is to "co-ordinate the activity of all safety agencies in the state in an all-out fight against traffic accidents in particular," Morrison said.

The safety director is also assigned the general task of promoting safety in all activities, the governor-elect noted.

Baldwin, 55, was the 1960 Democratic nominee for attorney general.

Solons Refuse To Limit Bills

... RUHNKE ASKED RULES CHANGE

By Don Walton

A motion to clump a limit on the number of bills which an individual senator can originally sponsor was soundly defeated Tuesday in a 3-hour opening session of the 1961 Legislature.

The move to amend the legislative body's rules, proposed by Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, failed on a 7-35 vote. One senator did not vote.

The Ruhnke amendment would have limited each member to proposing 10 bills as first introducer.

Any additional proposals would need approval of the Reference Committee and the standing committee to which it might be referred.

Only rules amendment approved changed the name of the Government Committee to the Government and Military Affairs Committee.

The proposal, suggested by Sen. Michael Russillo, was okayed on a 42-0 vote, one senator not voting.

The rules as amended were approved 38-0.

In other organizational action, the Legislature elected:

—Hugo Srb as Clerk of the Legislature, a post he has held since the Unicameral's inception 24 years ago.

—George L. Santo, sergeant-at-arms.

—The Rev. Martin Schroeder, a Lutheran pastor, as chaplain.

—Mrs. Ruby Nelson, past-master.

Francis Robinson of Ashland was renamed assistant clerk.

Took Oaths

The 43 lawmakers, including 15 freshman senators, took their oaths of office from Chief Justice Robert Simmons at 1 p.m. an hour after the Legislature convened.

Shortly before adjourning at 3:10 p.m., the body certified the results of the 1960 general election as presented by Secretary of State Frank Marsh.

Presiding at the opening session prior to the election of the Speaker was Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, who cast aside his role as governor to act in that capacity.

Burney, as governor, was later officially informed that the Legislature was organized and ready to transact business.

'Cut Cost, Length'

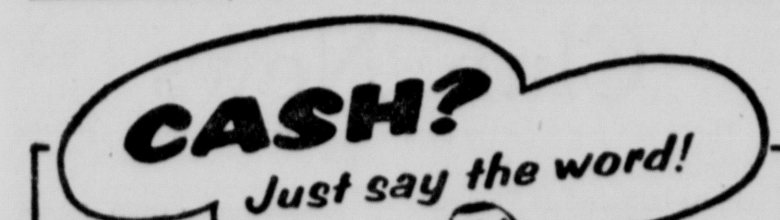

Ruhnke's rules amendment, he said, would cut both the cost and the length of legislative sessions.

The number of bills introduced, he noted, has increased each session to the record 739 in 1959. "There might be 800 bills this session," Ruhnke warned.

His proposed limitation, the senator suggested, would force legislators to be "more selective" and "still result in all the good and necessary legislation we need."

Seven senators rose to oppose the proposal, arguing chiefly that the Legislature should not impose artificial limitations on the action of members.

The Legislature will convene Wednesday at 9:30 a.m.

Officers Of Unicameral Ladies

Posing in the East Senate Chamber at the State Capitol on Tuesday afternoon while their husbands participated in the opening session of the Nebraska State Legislature were these members of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club who will direct the group's activities for the next two years.

Plymouth, second vice president; Mrs. George Knight, Lincoln, secretary; and Mrs. H. K. Diers, Gresham, treasurer.

The organization meets every Monday afternoon for luncheon and an informal program or card party during the time the State Unicameral is in session, and is open to the wives of current Unicameral members.

Family Features

Dear Abby— Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a good-looking truck driver for ten years. I am not the suspicious type, but listen to this: The other night he came off the road with two long scratches on his left hip. They were fairly deep scratches, yet neither his shorts nor trousers were ripped.

When I asked him how it happened, he said it was from a feather in the bed. Now, Abby, I love my husband and I am not looking for any trouble, but do they still have feather beds in modern motels? And could anyone get scratched like this from a feather?

NOT STUPID

DEAR NOT: It's unlikely that the scratches came from a feather. It was probably the whole chick. Keep your eyes open.

told me they were having a Christmas party at her office and husbands and wives were not invited. I told her where she went, I went. She didn't go to the party, and neither did any other respectable married employee. Now they invite husbands, wives and sweethearts, which is the way it ought to be.

STARTED SOMETHING

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it a little unfair to blame the "Christmas Party" on employees? We want to please our employees, so each year we let them vote secretly for a party with or without husbands and wives. And every year they have voted a party WITHOUT. So get off our backs.

PERSONNEL MGR.

ASK— Dorothy Draper

With all the talk of the Spanish, Italian and Oriental influence in home furnishings (which I think is an interesting trend) I was impressed recently with two well-known magazines that stressed the American feeling, both issues coming out the same month.

One did a wonderful job on "Our Great American Tradition." Their theme was that it was "timeless." And they showed with fascinating graphic skill how to blend the "new" of many lands with the "old" of American.

The other pictured a series of lovely "Traditional New England houses" which are "almost as modern as Modern," they said.

And say what you will, there is a hominess and an informality in these pictures that a strictly modern house would find hard to beat. This doesn't mean that you have to have a spinning wheel in one corner and a rocking chair in another, but it is the happy home-spun quality of Early American, combined with the 1960 colors and ideas, that made these houses of today outstandingly warm and gracious.

Don't get carried away with the foreign north, east, south, west influence, but do integrate the new ideas with the homey backgrounds of the past.

A. W. S. asks:

"What are your suggestions for decorating with oriental rugs? The rugs are Persian and have every conceivable color but the predominating color is dark red. Fortunately, my walls are white. My furniture is a hodge podge and I assume that slip covering is the only solution. I'd appreciate your comments on slipcovering with printed or striped materials."

Dear A. W. S.:

Slipcovers do hide a multitude of unrelated furniture "sins." You could have your sofa-settee and curtains in a small documentary print, picking up some of the rug colors, with white predominating. Then cover the two wing chairs in a plain cheerful rose-red that goes so well with that dark red of your rug.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to be an airline hostess. I have heard that one has to be a nurse first. I have also heard that one must be a certain height and weight and must remain unmarried. Is this true?

WANTS TO FLY

DEAR WANTS: Phone the local office of the airline for which you wish to fly. There you will learn where to write for the information you seek.

CONFIDENTIAL

TO HANK: Love cannot be preserved in alcohol. Get wise.

"Who pays for what?" Send 50c to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have a Lovely Wedding."

DEAR ABBY: I am the most heart-broken girl in the world. My mother gave away Snowball, my kitty, because she scratched my hand when I was putting a doll's diaper on her. It was an accident. I'm sure. Please, Abby, tell my mother I'll do anything to get Snowball back. When I was in school yesterday she gave him to the egg man to take to his farm.

WET PILLOW (I am 10)

DEAR WET PILLOW: I am appealing to your mother to please get Snowball back. But, honey, Snowball scratched you on purr-puss. Never try to put a diaper over a fur coat.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my husband, who is an executive with a large oil company, purchased a rather expensive gift for his private secretary. I found out about it when I intercepted the bill.

When I confronted him with it, he told me he had given the gift to his secretary as a "prize."

The company offers "prizes" occasionally to employees, but they are paid for out of company funds. Why should my husband have to give his secretary a "personal" prize?

"PRIZE FOOL(?)"

DEAR PRIZE FOOL(?): Could be that your husband is rewarding his secretary for services performed above and beyond the call of duty?

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago my wife came home and

The bidding:
North East South West
1 Pass 1 Pass
2 Pass 3 Pass
4 Pass 6 Pass

The bidding:
Opening lead — ten of hearts.

If you bid and make a slam legitimately, it counts no more than if you bid and make a slam by "stealing" it during the bidding or play.

Here is a clear case of larceny where South made a bid that resulted in bringing home a slam that could have been defeated. The hand was played in the Vanderbilt in 1958.

The bidding requires explanation. North-South were playing "five-card majors." According to this method, the bidding could not be opened with a four-card major suit. The responder could reply to a minor suit opening with a four-card major, if he had one, and the opener could then show a four-card major suit secondarily.

Since North (Ralph Hirschberg) was barred by the system from opening the bidding with a spade or a heart, he started with a diamond, the longer of his two minor suits. South (Norman Kay) made the natural response of a spade which Hirschberg raised to two.

Kay now chose to bid three clubs. There was much to recommend the bid, unusual as it was. From his viewpoint, a game in spades was already certain, and he could afford to fool around and try to stop a club lead, whether the final contract was going to be a game or a slam in spades.

He wanted to give West the impression that he had a spade-club hand, and he thought he might possibly inhibit the club lead by bidding clubs. He did not mind deceiving partner, because what Kay lacked in clubs he more than made up with his diamonds.

When Hirschberg jumped to four spades, Kay bid six. He knew the bid was risky, but there was first the chance that dummy would have some values in clubs, and second the chance that West might make the wrong lead.

Kay was right on the second count. West led the ten of hearts and the slam was made. Only a diamond trick was lost. Maybe West should have opened the ace of clubs ... but he didn't.

Mrs. H. K. asks:

"I wonder if you could help me with my kitchen. We have our woodwork and cupboards white, and we just got new table and chairs which are gray. My bread box and paper basket and canister set are red. I have my walls in yellow. Would like to change the walls. Would it have to be gray or could I use any other color?"

Dear Mrs. H. K.:

Don't use gray! Walls could be white, pink, that new avocado green or Bristol blue.

Farewell Courtesy

Paying farewell courtesy to her daughter, Mrs. Harry Riddle, on Saturday morning was Mrs. Harry Robinson who entertained 12 guests at her home for an informal coffee.

Mrs. Riddle and her daughters, Neva Jane and Lisa Joan, will leave Lincoln on Thursday, Jan. 5, to join Mr. Riddle in the family's new home at Phoenix, Ariz.

To Be Hostess

Miss Hazel Scott will be hostess to the members of the Bookmark Club at her home on Thursday. The program will be highlighted by a review of the book, "Ninety Dozen Glasses," by Margaret Cullman, given by Miss Lanta Dales.

Tour of the Town

The most festive event looming clear on the week's social horizon, of course, is the inaugural ball on Thursday evening at Pershing Memorial Auditorium, and we hear that many friends of Gov.-Elect and Mrs. Frank Morrison, have plans for dining together before going on to the ball where they will greet the new governor and his most charming and gracious "first lady."

But while awaiting Thursday evening's formal occasion we shall scan the town and see who else is doing what else.

—We discovered that this seems to be goodbye week, also. Miss Jane McLaughlin, who came from Denver to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward McLaughlin, left last Sunday to return to Denver and her teaching duties.

—And Tuesday found Dave Pierson en route to New Haven, Conn., and Yale where he is a first year law student. Mr. Pierson was the holiday guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Pierson.

—Leaving today to return to her home in Pacific Palisades, Calif., will be Mrs. Guy Negus who was the holiday guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Raymond, and of her sister, Mrs. Ruth Raymond Gavin.

—A preview of late January includes the arrival of a guest threesome — Mr. and Mrs. John T. Small and their daughter, Jennifer, of Lagos, Nigeria, who are to be the guests of Mrs. Small's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grey Jewett.

Mr. and Mrs. Small and their daughter arrived in the States, via Paris and London, before the holidays for which they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Jewett at the home of Mr. Small's parents, Cdr. (USN ret.) Lisle F. Small and Mrs. Small in Arlington, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Small and their young daughter will arrive in Lincoln on Jan. 31. We hear that Mr. Small will return to Nigeria sometime in March, but that Mrs. Small and Jennifer will remain until June.

Fun News In Suburbia

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Even though the holiday season is a thing of the past there are, however, a few items to be mentioned.

We must include that houseguests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Brestel have been Mrs. Brestel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E.

Matson. The holiday visitors will be returning soon to their home in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Motoring to Fremont for the Christmas week end were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Johnson and their young son, Bradley Lewis. While Mr. Johnson returned to Lincoln right after Christmas, Mrs. Johnson and her son remained there at the home of Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lewis.

Saturday, Mrs. Johnson returned to Lincoln in time for New Year's Eve festivities, then the couple journeyed back to Fremont Sunday to bring young Bradley home after his sojourn at his grandparents' home.

Evening Ceremony

MRS. RANDALL P. GOERTZ

And news from the small fry set this morning tells us that Jimmy Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Beck, celebrated his eighth birthday anniversary Monday.

His contemporaries who joined him for a theatre party were Larry Beck, Danny Campbell, Randy Roberts, Roger and Steve Weuess, Jim and John Arnot, Bill Bryant, and Ronald Martin.

Looking ahead to Saturday we find that Mr. and Mrs. Pat Mulligan will be going to Omaha for the evening. They will join Mr. Mulligan's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Southworth, for dinner and then on to see "Ben-Hur."

Neighbors are happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Price, Jr., and their three children, Terrell, Marilyn, and Shaun, to the suburb. The Price family moved the latter part of December from 3426 O. into the home at 3900 Worthington.

Another change of address to note this aye is that of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Bleyhl and their son, Bobbie. The Bleyhls, who formerly resided at 2547 Wooda Blvd., are now living at 12950 13 Place, in Aurora, Colo.

INDIAN VILLAGE

The welcome mat is out this morning for Mr. and Mrs. Harlan E. Mitchell. The Mitchells, who formerly lived in Omaha, are now residing at 1525 Dakota in the suburb.

And news from the diaper set in suburbia tells us of Ann Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams. The young miss was born on Tuesday, Dec. 27 at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Williams is the former Patricia Porter.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Porter of Edgar, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Williams of Davenport.

Club News

Three daughters of a member, Mrs. W. W. Ray, will be initiated on Thursday morning when CHAPTER DK, PEO, meets at the home of Mrs. Gray Jewett.

Mrs. Ray's daughters, who will become chapter members, are Miss Sara Ray, who attends the University of Pennsylvania; Miss Barbara Ray, a student at the University of Nebraska; and Mrs. Billy Jack Riley (Sandra Ray).

Activities for the Lincoln Air Force Base OFFICERS WIVES CLUB for the week include a meeting of the board at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Officers Club. In the afternoon, the club members will meet for a dessert luncheon and bridge party at the club.

The 415th bomb squadron wives held a 10 o'clock coffee Tuesday morning at the club, and meeting for 10 o'clock coffees at the club Thursday morning will be the 370th squadron wives and the 424th squadron wives.

The 345th bomb squadron wives will meet for a 1 o'clock games day, Thursday, at the club, and the regular duplicate bridge session will begin at 11 o'clock

Thursday morning at the club.

Meeting on Friday at the club house will be the bridge department members of the LINCOLN WOMAN'S CLUB. The afternoon of cards will begin at 1:15 o'clock.

The JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB of Lincoln has announced plans for its annual sewing contest and fashion show, to be held Wednesday, Jan. 25.

The fashion show will begin at 1 o'clock in the auditorium of Miller and Paine, and contest participants will model their original ensembles to be judges on the basis of the "ideal costume for the clubwoman's wardrobe." On the following points: appropriateness; becomingness; over-all fashion effect; and workmanship.

The club winner will participate in the district judging. State and national awards will be given through the co-sponsorship of Vogue and the General Federation of Women's Club.

For the first time this year, the club contest will be open to home economic students from local high schools whose entries will be judged on, "ideal costume for a high school student's dress-up wardrobe."

City Council Passes New Meat Ordinance

By Gerry Deal

The City Council Tuesday unanimously approved the ordinance regulating the sale of meat and meat products within the City of Lincoln.

The ordinance requires that all meat, to be sold either as fresh or processed or prepared meat, or meat food products sold or intended for sale within the City of Lincoln must be inspected and passed as evidenced by either the State or the Federal Department of Agriculture and Inspection stamp.

Wholesale vendors of fresh and processed meats and retail vendors of fresh, processed or prepared meats are the types of establishments regulated by the new ordinance.

Individuals who slaughter meats only for the use of their own families, those who go out of the City of Lincoln and buy from a firm or an individual farmer for their own family use or those who operate cold storage lockers and do not sell or handle or sale meat to their individual patrons or locker leases are not under the regulation of the ordinance.

Other Action

In other action, the council unanimously denied the application of Melvin H. Richards for a change of zone in West Lincoln which would permit the development of an auto salvage yard.

About 10 residents of the area appeared in opposition to the request pointing out that there are "too many" such salvage yards in the area and that it would decrease the value of their properties.

The Planning Commission had recommended denial on the basis that approval would result in spot zoning, would have a deleterious effect on adjacent property and it might discourage population growth to the west and southwest of the central business district as proposed in the Comprehensive Plan.

Council action on ordinances:

Introduced, 1st Reading
—Sewer District, 44th Street from Stockwell to Cooper.
Passed, 2nd Reading
—Alley Paving District 284, e.w. and n.w. alley from 47th to 48th, Madison to St. Paul.
—Providing for a permit to install tanks for the storage of flammable liquids and fixing the fee of $10 per tank.

Resignation Of Kuhner Okayed

The City Council Tuesday approved the resignation and retirement of Ben Kuhner, member of the City Fire Department for more than 24 years.

Kuhner, who joined the department in November, 1936, worked up from a fireman to a 2nd Assistant Chief. His resignation becomes effective Jan. 19.

"The department will lose one of the finest officers and a valuable member. His loyalty, interest and sincerity for the department are the qualities of the type of men that make it a success," Fire Chief Roscoe Benton stated.

Police Officer George Gohde Dies At 57

Lt. George H. Gohde, 57, of 4101 Everett, died Tuesday in a Lincoln hospital.

He was a Lincoln police officer 18 years.

Chief Joseph T. Carroll said: "In spite of a severe physical handicap he had in recent years, Lt. Gohde was a dependable officer and an asset to the department."

During his police career, Lt. Gohde was in charge of the parking violations and record bureaus and had been a night desk sergeant and traffic clerk.

He joined the department Sept. 16, 1927, as curfew officer but resigned a year later to operate a beauty salon.

Rejoining the force June 25, 1943, as a traffic clerk, he was promoted to night desk sergeant a year later, transferred in 1947 to the record bureau and became its head 4 years later.

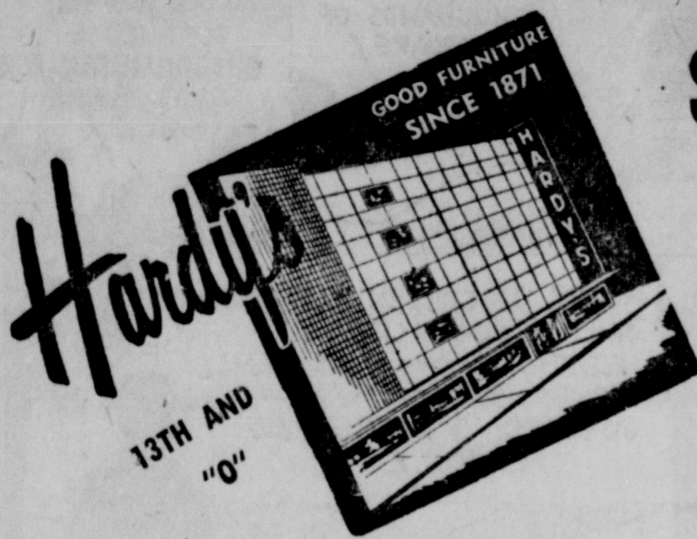

Lt. Gohde is survived by his wife, Virginia; a daughter, Mrs. Earl Kraft of Lincoln; a son, George H. Jr. of Lincoln, and 7 grandchildren.

Damage Suit Filed For Alleged Injuries

Wesley Shufeldt of Lincoln filed a $21,133 damage suit Tuesday in Lancaster District Court against Herman J. Winkler of 1912 K.

Shufeldt alleges he was injured when his car and one driven by Winkler were in collision Feb. 17, 1960, west of Lincoln on U.S. 6.

Five More Enter Race For Council

...Get Petitions

Five more Lincolinites have taken out petitions for filing for the City Council posts to be available in the spring election, according to the Election Commissioner's office.

Lloyd Hinkley, real estate company owner; Lyle Emery, physical therapist; Bennett Murphy, merchant, and Merritt Nellis, automotive repairman, announced their candidacies for the Council Tuesday.

Lincoln barbershop owner Kenneth L. Odle said he is considering candidacy for the council.

Seven other Lincoln residents have announced they intend to file for one of the 3 council terms that are expiring.

Mayor Pat Boyles has completed his filing for mayor, the commissioner's office reported. He is seeking a second 2-year term.

Other filings are expected for the council since the 3 councilmen up for re-election have said they will not seek re-election.

Hinkley, 31, owner of Hinkley Realty at 1551 O, and associated with Harding-Hinkley-Smith Insurance Agency, lives at 5830 Earl dr. He is married and has 4 children.

"Being in the real estate business, I am acutely aware of Lincoln's expansion problems," he said. "I would like to see it grow in the right directions."

Emery, 35, lives at 6310 Madison, is married and has 4 children.

"I am not representing anything in particular but would like to be on the council and see if I couldn't help this town become more progressive," Emery, physical therapist at St. Elizabeth Hospital, said.

Murphy, of 430 So. 37th, manager of Quality Plus Store at 1554 No. 48th, was not available for comment.

Nellis, 49, the owner and manager of 5th Wheel Inc., 116 So. 16th, stated, "I have some ideas of my own that I think would be good for the city. I represent no group or agency."

Nellis resides at 5703 Baldwin, is married and has 4 children.

Odle, 37, of 3757 Washington, stated that he is considering the council and has been urged by several groups to run for the post.

He owns a barbershop at 13th and F. A. Lincoln resident since 1946, he is married and has 3 children.

Youth Is Fined, Loses License For 6 Months

Robert M. Bybee, 20, of 2416 W. was fined a total of $85 and lost his driving privileges for 6 months after a race with a police officer Saturday.

Bybee pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving and having no driver's license, and Judge John Jacobson levied a fine of $75 for the first charge and $10 for the second. In addition, he suspended Bybee's driver's license for 6 months.

The report read in court by officer Enos Groves said Bybee was chased in the 24th and Vine area at speeds up to 55 m.p.h.

Groves reported the car he was following struck a power pole between Vine and W streets on 24th.

Here's How To

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. POINT BLANK

Sports Editor, The Star

The Vindication

Missouri's excellent performance in the Orange Bowl—the best contest on the program, I thought—was a shot-in-the-arm for the Big 8 Conference.

And it did a lot to remove the sting that always accompanies a "phony championship."

Since the record is there for all to study, I agree that Kansas was probably the best team in the Big 8 in 1960. At least, the Jayhawks soundly thumped the Tigers to win the title.

However, Dan Devine had a fine team at Columbia and it proved in the Orange Bowl that it could perform well against a top-notch club like Navy.

While Tiger athletic director Don Faurot may have been the trigger man in dumping the Bert Coan case in the laps of the loop faculty men—which resulted in the go-crowning of Kansas—Devine and his Tigers had not part in the unfortunate incident.

They accepted the KU defeat gracefully and went about the business of preparing for Navy in earnest. Regardless of the record book, which says Missouri is the 1960 champion, the Tigers will always know that Kansas was the true king.

But the Tigers can be proud of their great effort against Navy—and they shouldn't have to sneak around corners because the loop does punished Kansas.

Bouquet For Bush

One of the nearly 7,000 fans who jammed Pershing Auditorium for the Harlem Globetrotters' fine show was Nebraska basketball coach Jerry Bush.

And one of Jerry's admirers was "officiating" the zany contest.

Riley Pitkoff, a former official in the American Basketball Association and the National Basketball Association, had high praise for Bush and the old Fort Wayne entry in the ABL.

"That Fort Wayne team Jerry played on in the ABL was one of the greatest pro basketball teams I've ever seen," Riley testified.

Show Time

Speaking of the Trotters, it's quite evident that the paying public wants entertainment these days, not just a straight contest.

The Wesleyan tournament drew only next of kin, NU cage games haven't drawn well and many of the other "purist" games have failed to excite the ticket buyer.

"Give 'em a show with some laughs or extra curricular doings, and they'll show up," says a promoter wise in the ways of crowd-getting.

Which apparently explains the drawing power of the the Trotters and pro rassing, Pershing's other ace gate-producer.

Husker Comeback

Nebraska cagers were the Cinderella's of the Big 8 tourney and John Cronley of the Daily Oklahoman is typical of the press gang which saw NU practically kill the game against Kansas and then roar back against Missouri and Oklahoma State.

After the KU smeller, John wrote: "The Cornhuskers are earning the dubious distinction of being one of the poorest teams ever to compete here..."

In a tourney summation, John said of the Huskers: "... Few teams ever played any worse than in its opening slaughtering by Kansas. What happened later on? Ninety points in routing Missouri and an even sharper game to surprise Oklahoma State."

PS: Uncle John now has a new candidate for the Big 8 cellar—"Missouri is written off as a team that couldn't find its way out of a phone booth."

A'S NAME LANE AS GM

Trader Horn Will Boss Gordon Again

... FINLEY SETS FRONT OFFICE

Kansas City (AP)—Frank Lane, who twice disposed of Joe Gordon as manager of the Cleveland Indians Tuesday was appointed general manager of the down-trodden Kansas City Athletics and found himself Gordon's boss for the 3rd time.

The appointment of Lane, known as the "Trader Horne" of baseball, as executive vice president and general manager of the A's was announced here by Charles O. Finley, 42, new president of the club. Finley is a wealthy insurance man from Gary, Ind.

Lane, who seldom wastes any motion in saying what he thinks or in swapping ball players in wholesale lots, comes here from the Cleveland Indians where he has been the general manager.

Lane also is a former general manager of the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Cardinals. He will be 65 Feb. 1.

Lane succeeds Parke Carroll who, Finley said, was offered a new position with the club but has declined.

The appointment of Lane means he will have Joe Gordon as his field manager—at least to start off the season. When Lane and Gordon get together it is difficult to tell what will happen.

Gordon Vs. Lane

Lane fired Gordon as Cleveland manager in 1959 after almost an entire season of bickering, hired him back the next day with a 2-year contract and raise in pay, then swapped him to Detroit for manager Jimmy Dykes last season.

Lane Tuesday recalled how he had criticized Gordon when Lane thought the Indians should have won the pennant in 1959. But he said it was "fine" with him that Gordon is the A's manager.

"Gordon is willing to try anything," said Lane. "I don't think Joe is perfect anymore than I am. He wears no man's collar. He will do the kind of job we want. He is fine with young players but no manager is better than the material he has."

Before Finley

Gordon resigned the Detroit job and was hired by the A's before Finley bought 52 per cent of the A's stock from the estate of the late Arnold Johnson.

With Lane at his side at a news conference, Finley described him as "the greatest general manager in baseball today."

"Under Lane we'll probably have one team coming, one playing and one going," Finley said with a smile, referring to Lane's reputation as a baseball trader.

"We're going to keep the good players we develop. They won't find their way to Yankee Stadium or any other stadium if they are good."

This was an obvious reference to the many trades the preceding ownership had with the New York Yankees.

Mays Cuts Out—Wife Won't Talk

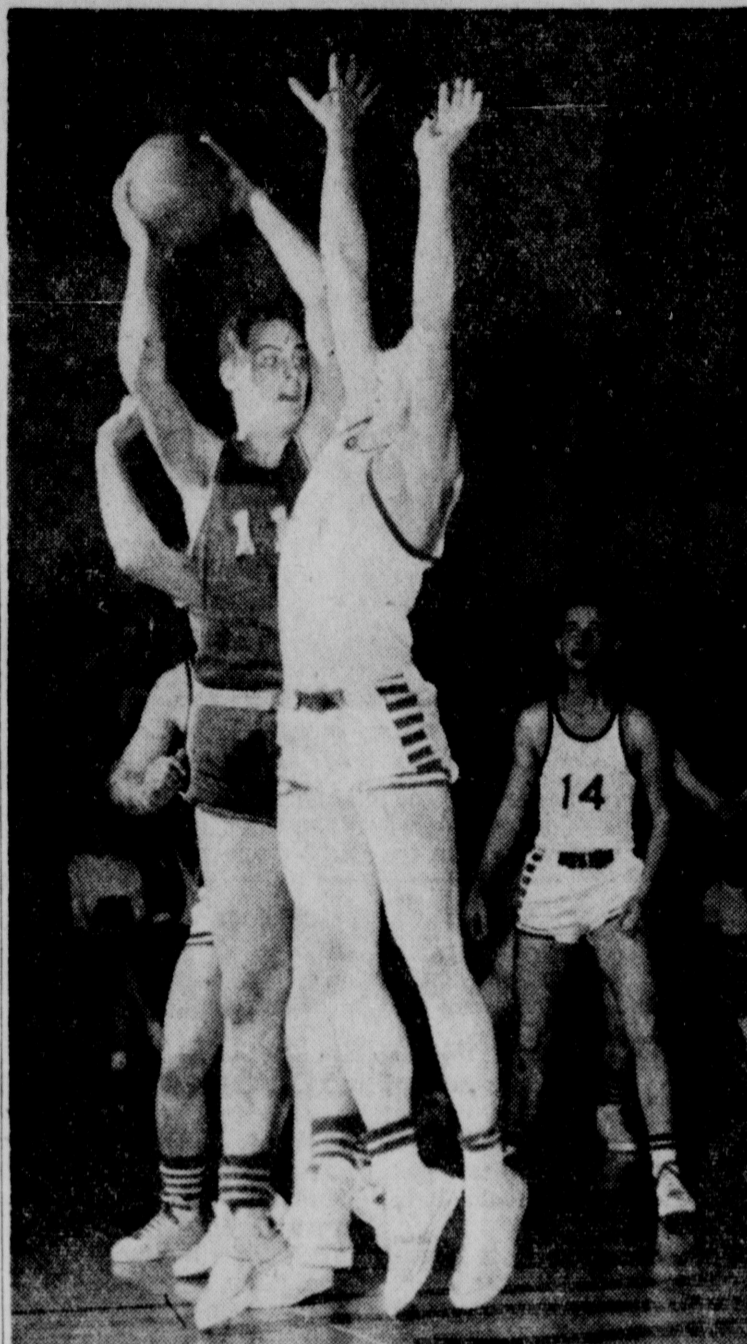

New Rochelle, N.Y. (UPI)

Willie Mays, San Francisco Giants' outfielder packed most of his wardrobe and a television set into his car and left his swank 15-room house here during the weekend, it was reported Tuesday.

His wife, Marguerite, refused to deny or confirm reports that she and Mays are separating.

Friends close to the family told newsmen that on New Year's Eve Mays moved out of the $75,000 home he purchased about 6 months ago.

Mrs. Mays, twice divorced when she married the star outfielder Feb. 14, 1956 in Elkton, Md., conceded there had been "frictions" between them. But she would not say whether either is taking action toward permanent separation or divorce.

—DC ST. MARY'S VICTIM—

Assumption In 42-36 Shocker

... EARNS DIOCESAN FINALS

By Tom Hutson

Upset thrills appeared in the second round of the Lincoln Diocesan Tournament Tuesday night as relentless Dwight Assumption toppled ranked David City St. Mary's, 42-36.

The opening contest in the second flight found Falls City Sacred Heart recovering from Monday's blitz administered by St. Mary's and blasting Beatrice St. Joseph's 62-41.

Assumption assumed the giant-killer's role as it tackled favored St. Mary's. The game opened much as expected... St. Mary's vaulted to an 11-4 lead late in the 1st quarter.

Bluejays Tie

Then the sure-passing Bluejays caught fire and knotted the score 11-11.

With Clarence Ekstein swiping rebounds from tree-like Gene Coleman, Danny Lavicky and Al Kotera potting shots from all over the floor, and guards Gene Zitek and Bob Rumery ball-hawking the errant St. Mary's passes, the Assumption squad jelled into an upset-hungry team.

Assumption's zone defense consistently blocked 6-8 Coleman from getting the ball, and the Knights had to resort to outside shooting.

Denny Kirby was moderately effective as he notched 15 points, but that was about all St. Mary's could muster.

The Bluejays took a 7 point lead in the second quarter, held a 5-point halftime surplus, and slid to a 3-point advantage at the end of the ragged third quarter.

With Denny Kirby leading the way, the Knights pulled into a 34-34 tie with 3:58 remaining in the game.

The Assumption team and fans were not to be deprived of victory after such determined effort.

Gifts Decide

Four Assumption lads stepped to the free throw line in the last 4 minutes and d canned 7 of 10 gift throws to pull away from the frustrated St. Mary's team.

The Assumption five—just five played the entire game—started glowing with the inimitable grins of achieving the impossible as the end neared.

In the evening's first encounter, Falls City Sacred Heart fashioned two consecutive 21-point quarters to smother Beatrice St. Joe's.

Jack Darveau drove for 17 points and tall sophomore Mike Simon added 15 for the Irish. Don Buckholz tallied 15 for the losing Red Ravens.

Tournament action Wednesday night pits St. Cecilia's against Lourdes Central of Nebraska City to decide which will face inspired Dwight Assumption.

In flight two, Bellwood Marietta takes on Wahoo Catholic to determine Sacred Heart's Thursday opponent.

Tournament sidelights—Assumption's coach, Reverend M. S. Danko, was not present for his team's greatest season victory... he is visiting his parents in Pennsylvania.

In the St. Cecilia's-Marietta game Monday night, only 5 personal fouls were committed by the Marietta team, while referees found 23 court infractions by the Bluehawks.

Jerry Sherman, former St. Cecilia star, is now playing for Regis College in Denver where he is holding down a starting forward job.

City's Gym Squads Have Top Potential

... STATE CROWNS LIKELY IF NO INJURIES

If misfortune isn't their lot, Lincoln's 3 gymnastics coaches should produce the 3 top contenders for the state championship this year.

With defending state champion Hastings out of the way due to its loss through graduation of all-time great, Dennis Albers, the Capital City squads appear to have the most potential in Nebraska.

Lincoln High, which edged Southeast for second last year, has been billed as the team to beat this year. Northeast placed 5th in the state last year and has its whole team back.

Some Misfortune

Coach Phil Sprague at Lincoln High has had some misfortunes already.

Of his 7 returning lettermen, only 4 will be available for the opening meet against Southeast Jan. 13.

Sprague's two top point-getters in 1960, Frank Vogt and Francis Allen, were injured late in December.

Allen, the team's leading scorer, reinjured a thumb he hurt in football when he took a bad fall during a practice session.

Vogt smashed a finger in a car door and aggravating infection set in. He may be ready for Southeast.

Allen was second to Albers in the horizontal bar and the parallel bars and finished 4th in all-around last spring.

Vogt was second to Albers in tumbling and free exercise.

Other Lettermen

Other Lincoln High lettermen back are Biff Pfeiff in tumbling, and free exercise; Louie Stanard, rope climb, side horse, horizontal bar and flying rings; Larry Raskey, trampoline; and Weldon Woodward, rope climb and rings.

Chuck Province, who placed in the state meet in the rope climb and horizontal bar, will be back second semester.

Pfeiff and Stanard also placed in the state tourney.

SE Standout

Southeast Coach Art Hillman should have one of the state's finest all-around performers in tiny Jim Howard, 5-4 and 150 pounds.

Howard placed in the rings, high bar, and p-bars to wind up 3rd in the all-around event last year.

The only other returning Knight letterman is Fred Solheim, a rebound tumbler.

Hillman says he has a strong group coming from last year's reserve team along with 3 boys back from the varsity and a couple of "very promising" sophomores.

—NEW GRAPPLING TWIST—

Rocky Riots, Bruiser Wins

If Tuesday's pro rassing finale at Pershing Auditorium is any indication, 1961 should be a rouser for grunt and groan fans.

There was a new twist to promoter Jack Pesek's New Year's show.

Some 1,748 fans didn't see Dick The Bruiser go berserk. Oh, he was his usual wild-man self, all right. But this time it was Rocky Hamilton who created the post-match riot.

It all started with the main event standing at one fall apiece. Rioting Richard scooped up a handful of sawdust, but referee Johnny Lehl and Hamilton managed to empty the paw during an in-and-out-of-the-ring hassle.

Then, when Bruiser wouldn't let Hamilton back in the ring, the Missouri Mauler grabbed a ringside chair and tried to bash Dick.

But Bruiser de-chaired Hamilton—while Lehl tried to intercede—and planted it on Rocky's head.

The Bruiser promptly pounced on the stunned Hamilton and was awarded the fall in 3:08.

Rocky Attacks

Rocky, as balky as a Missouri mule and demonstrating just about the same amount of kick, tore after Bruiser.

Pesek, Joe Dusek of Omaha and Lehl tried everything from flying tackles to right crosses and couldn't calm him down.

They slugged in the ring and side seats before Hamilton finally ran out of gas—apparently just nipping Pesek, Dusek and Lehl in this department.

While all this was taking place, Bib Bob Orton—a hulking grappler of note—stood on a back row seat enjoying a busman's holiday while the fans thronged around the free-swinging Bruiser and Hamilton.

Golf Club Withdraws

Chicago (AP)—Scioto Country Club of Columbus, Ohio, withdrew as host of the 53th annual Western Open golf tourney, June 22-25.

NEW ATHLETICS FAMILY

general manager; Lane and Finley. Back row: James Schaaf, traveling secretary; Finley's son Charles Jr.; Fred Finley, promotion and Pat Friday, executive vice president.

Eagles Want Van Brocklin Back, Skorich For Mentor

... DUTCHMAN MAY RECEIVE NFL RECORD SALARY OFFER

Philadelphia (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles are leaning toward line coach Nick Skorich as successor to recently retired head coach Buck Shaw and will offer passing star Norm Van Brocklin a record National Football League salary to play at least one more year, it was learned Tuesday.

Van Brocklin, who wants to be a head coach in pro football, will turn down the offer, he told the Associated Press. Unless he gets the coaching job he'll pack up and return to his native Oregon. It is understood he has a good job with a swim suit firm.

"I like money as well as the next guy," the genial passing star said. "But I'm not going to play again. I started with nothing and have more now, so I've no complaints."

Skorich is a former pro lineman who worked as an assistant coach with the Pittsburgh Steelers and Green Bay Packers before joining Shaw with the Eagles in 1959. He reportedly passed the University of Cincinnati head coaching job to wait for the Eagles' appointment.

The 39-year-old Skorich played college football at Cincinnati and then with the Steelers from 1946 through 1948. Because of an injury, he turned to high school coaching in Pittsburgh from 1949 to 1952. He became an assistant with the Steelers in 1953, leaving to go to Green Bay 5 years later. The late Jock Sutherland, under whom Skorich played as a pro, once said of the stocky lineman, "Some day this young fellow will be a great coach."

Skorich is credited with developing the tough Eagle line, both offensively and defensively, which helped the team win its first NFL title in 11 years. Under Shaw he had complete charge of the line play, making substitutions as he saw fit.

Skorich and his wife, Teresa and their two children, reside in Pittsburgh. He reportedly was considered for the Eagles' top job before Shaw was brought in.

Van Brocklin said last winter when he signed a contract estimated at over $20,000, that 1960 would be his last year as an active player. He has repeated the statement hundreds of times since. He said it again after leading the Eagles to the NFL title over the Green Bay Packers.

The Eagles have high regard for the 33-year-old Van Brocklin, both as a player and as a potential coach. But as one source close to the club put it, "Coaches are easy to get; quarterbacks aren't." This source said the Eagles needed Van Brocklin more as a player than a coach. Money is no object if the Dutchman will change his mind.

NFL Bruisers Take To Links

...AND TALK MONEY MATTERS

Hollywood, Fla. (AP) — Several tons of animated beef will lumber over fairway and green today as National Football League players start their first annual golf tournament, held in connection with the first full-scale meeting of the NFL Players Association.

The scoring will be incidental, with most of the totals announced in whispers. It's strictly a fun affair, but the business to be taken up at meeting is no trivial matter to the more than 75 athletes who will try out the Hollywood Beach Hotel golf course for size.

Heretofore officers and player representatives of the various clubs have met periodically to discuss problems and goals, but never have the association members assembled at their own expense to take part in the proceedings.

Pension Fund

The chief item of business is the financing of the pension fund, or, as Cleveland attorney Creighton Miller who represents the association prefers to call it, the forced-saving plan.

"The word pension might give people the impression the athletes retire and start drawing money," he explained. "As a matter of fact they wouldn't start drawing a pension until they were 55 or 60 years old."

Bill Howton, the tall, slim, red-haired pass catcher of the Dallas club, has been president of the association since it was organized, and he says that to date the group has accomplished everything it has set out to do.

Bears Not In

"We have 100 percent membership of the players on all clubs except the Chicago Bears," he said. "The Bears are not represented, and we undoubtedly will discuss that situation at this meeting."

"The idea of a players' group began to take form in 1954, with the fact the players were getting no pay for exhibition games the main complaint."

"The Los Angeles Rams threatened to strike over this issue in 1956. After the anti-trust hearings in Washington in 1957 the league recognized the association and our demands. The players now get $50 for each exhibition."

"We also put through the life insurance and hospitalization plan, which costs the league about $60,000 a year."

Howton said an effort will be made to pin down the source of income for the pension plan at the current meeting.

Suit Against NBA Enters Court Today

New York (AP) — Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman Tuesday set today for trial of the $3,000,000 anti-trust suit brought by former basketball star Jack Molinas against the National Basketball Association.

Molinas was barred by the NBA 6 years ago after he admitted betting on his own team, the Fort Wayne Pistons, to win.

The former Columbia University star, now a New York lawyer, said he only wagered on his own team to win, netted about $400 and paid taxes on the profits.

He is seeking to have the NBA ban lifted and asks $3,000,000 in damages. Molinas charged the NBA, its president, Maurice Podoloff, and its 8 member teams with acting in restraint of trade, a violation of the anti-trust law.

The suit was filed on Sept. 30, 1958.

NE Experienced

Tom Kidd at Northeast, with his whole 1960 team back, was fairly optimistic.

Four lettermen, led by senior Curt Kiner, lead an experienced team.

Kiner finished 6th in all-around. Kenny Hood, another all-arounder, and John Hill and Bob Maxwell in free exercise, tumbling and parallel bars are the other monogram winners.

Four other varsity returnees are expected to supplement the point output of the lettermen. They are Dick Way, Mike Marshall, Gary Muehlhausen and Bob Carter. Sophomores Mike Ready and Gary Jurgens are the best newcomers on Kidd's team.

St. Moritz — St. Moritz in Switzerland is the essence of elegance in skiing circles. It is the winter home of the continental rich. Ex-kings and out-of-work Latin-American dictators pad softly through its snowy streets.

The hotels are pictures of luxury. And caviar is a throwaway line on the restaurant menus.

The train from St. Anton in Austria runs in a circular fashion to reach St. Moritz. And there are two changes where you must fling your bags out the window.

"But if you wish, sir," said the hotel porter, "you can take a taxi."

"How far is it?"

"About 180 kilometers, sir. Say, 120 American miles."

"And how much does he charge?" I asked carelessly. (If you are going to live with the rich, you have to live it up, I always say.)

The porter said it was 600 Austrian schillings. I figured that out in my head. Then I went in the men's lounge and figured it out on paper. Only $24!

"Order me the taxi," I said grandly.

"And so we rode into St. Moritz, our Mercedes' snow tires kicking snow over the walking royalty."

St. Moritz turned out to be filled not only with facecard Dukes. It was loaded with rich Swiss who came down from Zurich to avoid the foehn.

"The foehn," said Mr. Fred Birman from the Swiss National Tourist Office, "is a dry wind. It sweeps the north-south valleys like Zurich and Munich. It comes from the Mediterranean and makes people do crazy things."

"When the foehn blows, there are more traffic accidents. The crime rate increases. Many people cannot behave normally. My secretary did not come to work yesterday in Zurich."

"She phoned and said: 'I have a head like a melon from the foehn.'"

Mr. Birman said the Swiss have even put out an anti-foehn pill to take on such Zurich days.

"But the foehn has a stimulating effect on writers and poets. Some of the best poetry is written on foehn days."

"The foehn is also good for the tourists — though not for Tourist Office personnel," he said. "The tourists do not seem to be affected by the foehn. The dry wind clears the air. "On such days, the tourists look out their windows and it seems they can almost touch the Alps, it is so clear. "All picture postcards of Zurich are taken on foehn days," said Mr. Birman. "Although they probably retouch them, too. But foehn makes the best pictures."

He said it took about 9 years of residence before the foehn took hold and shook you.

"At that time, the foehn becomes a mania. Everybody talks about it. They say, 'I can do anything today because of the foehn.'"

The Foehn apparently does not fall on St. Moritz. The rich and royal strolled through the streets in sable spender. From my room in the Hotel Rosatch, I could see the quiet parade of Rolls-Royces, Daimlers and sporty Mercedes-Benz custom-built.

The lights shone brightly in the splendid hotels. And the splendid people (who hire taxis for 120-mile rides) sat splendidly before excellent meals.

The foehn, sweeping up from the Mediterranean, made a polite detour and went on to blow the tops off Zurich.

NEBRASKA, SO. DAKOTA DELEGATIONS SOLID GOP

By Robert A. Hunt AP Special Service

Washington — Congressional delegations from Nebraska and South Dakota returned to the solid Republican field as the 87th Congress opened Monday.

A switch in 3 House seats from Democrat to Republican hands in the November election turned the trick.

The 3 new members are Reps. Ralph F. Beermann and Dave Martin of Nebraska and Ben Riefel of South Dakota, believed to be the first person of Sioux Indian ancestry to serve in Congress.

Beermann defeated Larry Brock and Martin toppled Donald F. McGinley after the two Democrats had served one term. Riefel won the seat held 4 years by Democrat George S. McGovern, beaten in trying to unseat GOP Sen. Earl E. Mundt.

McGovern has been selected by President-elect Kennedy to head the country's food for peace program.

McGovern, in capturing the House seat in 1956, became the first Democrat in 20 years to win high office in South Dakota. Brock and McGinley were the first Democrats in Congress from Nebraska since Eugene O'Sullivan's one-term appearance in 1949-50.

This will be the last Congress with 4 House members from Nebraska. The state, as a result of the 1960 census, will lose one seat beginning with the 88th Congress. South Dakota will retain a two-man House delegation.

The 54-year-old Riefel, who has a doctorate from Harvard University, is an enrolled member of the Rosebud Sioux Tribe. His mother was a full blood Indian and his father a German-American. Both are now dead.

Riefel's wife, Alice, was on hand to watch the opening ceremonies from the House gallery. She and her husband celebrated their 27th wedding anniversary Dec. 27.

Other members of the South Dakota delegation are Mundt, Sen. Francis Case and Rep. E. Y. Berry.

Others in the Nebraska contingent are Sens. Carl T. Curtis and Roman L. Hruska and Reps. Glenn Cunningham and Phil Weaver.

Educator: 'Moms Least Qualified To Run Schools'

Burlington, Vt. (UPI)—A University of Vermont official says mothers aren't necessarily good educators.

Dr. Raymond V. Phillips, director of the Summer Session and the Evening Division, said "the thing that qualifies a person least to have any notion on how to raise a child is the act of motherhood."

"Yet, these are the 'experts' who would usurp the educational system at the public school level."

Dr. Phillips, a popular speaker for PTA meetings, said the trouble with education today is that "too many of us went to school and therefore consider ourselves experts."

He said "everybody becomes an expert merely by attending school, whether graduating or merely completing first grade. Then they try to supersede the real experts, those trained in education."

Phillips expressed deep dissatisfaction with "the Momism expert who tries to dictate school policy, either through PTA or by belaboring harassed school officials."

"People don't try to tell a contractor how to construct his building or a pilot to fly his plane," he said. "So why do they consider themselves more qualified to run the educational system?"

He also blasted "another popular theory"—that this generation is going to the dogs.

"There is no way to check the student of today against one, say, of 20 years ago to prove that one is better or less educated than the other," he said.

Nebraska Winter Grains In Good Condition

Nebraska's winter grain crops were generally reported in good to excellent condition and recent snowfall gave the crops some needed moisture, state-federal statisticians said Tuesday.

In its weekly crop report, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said some southwest counties received 5 to 6 inches of snow which proved "especially helpful" to winter grain crops.

More snow early this week provided a d d d protection from low temperatures.

Most sections of the state reported pastures, ranges and foraging fields open to grazing during the past week.

Milo and corn stalk fields have carried large numbers of cattle and hogs this fall.

The open weather favored a limited amount of field work but most farmers and ranchers were turning their attention to repair work and fencing, hauling and grinding feed and caring for livestock.

The division said the usual end of the year bookkeeping was also commanding attention.

Farmers harvested the largest crop on record in Nebraska during 1960. The aggregate crop production was 54 per cent above the 1947-49 average.

For the most part, storage facilities were available to take care of the bumper grain crops. However, some ear corn was piled on the ground.

EVERY NEBRASKAN HAS INVITATION TO BALL

Governor-elect and Mrs. Frank Morrison said that "We want every Nebraskan to know that he has a personal invitation to attend the Inaugural Ball", Thursday night.

The Morrisons said no formal or printed invitations have been sent.

"It would be an impossible task to contact all the people whom we very much would like to have at the ball," the new first lady explained, "so we are inviting everyone."

She added that they expect Estes Kefauver, U.S. senator from Tennessee, and his wife, Nancy, to attend the evening festivities.

Bill Davidson, Lincoln chairman of the ball preparations, reports that only last minute items remain to be done. "Most of the preparations were completed some time ago," Davidson said.

The ball is to be held at the Auditorium.

"The Forward Move," an idea that helped to carry Gov.-elect Morrison to victory last November, will be the general theme of the celebration.

Davidson said the phrase will be developed through decorations symbolizing progress in the areas discussed in the campaign: agriculture, industry and education.

Diane Knotek Butcher, former Miss Nebraska, will sing during the program. Also listed to appear will be Paul Evans, Lincoln, with a vocal music presentation, and the St. John's Military School Crack Drill Squad. Morrison's sons, Biff and Jon, attended the Salina, Kan., military school. Gov.-elect Morrison is a member of the Board of trustees of the school.

The doors will be open at 7 p.m. Introduction of guests and the climactic grand march are scheduled at 9.

Following the grand march, the new governor and first lady will meet guests in a reception line.

Methodists Consider Rural Population Losses

More than 100 Methodist laymen and ministers met in Lincoln Tuesday to consider the rural de-population problem and its impact on urban Methodist church areas.

Convening as a study group, the two-day Town and Country Conference began preparation of a master-strategy to meet the growing needs of the weakening rural church and the subsequent expansion of urban congregations.

Aim to Help

In an opening address, Nebraska Methodist Bishop Kenneth W. Copeland emphasized that the main cause of the Methodist Church is to "reach and help people."

He noted that as "our brothers' keeper" God expects us to act responsibly in the problem of "reaching our brother."

Attention was turned toward the prospect of the growth and development of the church in an expanding city situation as Dr. Harold Sandall, district superintendent, and the Rev. Don Rose presented the "picture in Lincoln."

Through planning-commission progress reports, the Lincoln ministers pointed out that the quick expansion within the city has presented a strain upon the church to keep pace.

Rev. Rose cited that the need was not particularly to "build more churches" but to "strategically reorganize present programs and place new churches where the drawing potential areas are located."

A Wednesday morning bus tour will take delegates to these strategic locations noted for further church expansion in Lincoln and the surrounding areas.

Reports from county seat towns and centers Tuesday revealed the problems of depopulation as related to the rural church. Methods of re-organization and re-grouping were considered and discussed by the delegates.

At the evening conference, Dr. Phil Edwards and Dr.

Andros Elected Hellenic Orthodox Church Chairman

The Hellenic Orthodox Church of the Annunciation, 18th and M, has elected A. A. Andros its chairman, the Very Rev. Napoleon D. Karampelas said.

Chosen vice chairman was Michael G. Boosalis; named treasurer was Mrs. Al Damian, and Mrs. Fred Kuebler was elected secretary.

Louis Douglas, G. J. Kontras and Richard Weborg were elected to two-year terms as trustees.

Glen Sanford, of the Methodist Town and Country Commission office in Philadelphia, Pa., presided over a discussion geared to survey the task set before the Methodist expansion program in relation to depopulated rural areas and expanded urban sections.

Highlights of Wednesday's meetings will include:

—Bus tour of greater Lincoln.

—An address concerning the development of new churches by the Rev. Clarence McConkey, department of Town and Country work.

—Lincoln City Union banquet featuring Bishop Copeland as guest speaker.

Dr. Harold C. Sandall, co-chairman with Dr. James Chubb of Grand Island, termed the conference a "step forward toward successful completion of the task of reaching Nebraskans through a renovated church program."
